Christian Education and the Emerging Church

Wendi Sargeant, 2015-07-24 All signs point to Christian education having lost its theological location and prominence in the life of the Western Protestant church The Emerging Church movement as an intentionally postmodern approach to ministry in the contemporary context may however offer insights to reinterpret Christian education This significant movement in today's church gives Christian education a new interpretive framework that is theologically located at an intersection of doxology and doctrine In her examination of postmodern faith formation Wendi Sargeant explores the importance of the Christian worshipping community as the most appropriate setting for Christian education Practitioners and students will benefit from the ready to use teaching and learning matrix and all those with interest in the formation of faith in themselves and others will draw much from the way Sargeant situates worship as the basis for enhancing Christian formation and ethos

The Birth of Nobility David Crouch, 2015-10-23 For 300 years separate and mutually uncomprehending English and French historiographies have confused the history of medieval aristocracy Unpicking the basic assumptions behind both national traditions this book explains them reconciles them and offers entirely new ways to take the study of aristocracy forward in both England and France The Birth of Nobility analyses the enormous international field of publications on the subject of medieval aristocracy breaking it down into four key debates noble conduct noble lineage noble class and noble power Each issue is subjected to a thorough review by comparing current scholarship with what a vast range of historical source material actually says It identifies the points of divergence in the national traditions of each of these debates and highlights where they have been mutually incomprehensible For students studying medieval Europe
