The only thing Tyler couldn't control was his fiancée's death. He's emotionally guarded and unwilling to love again. A relationship isn't in the cards. Kate Song knows the feeling. Her sole focus is her dream to be a lingerie designer. She's not about to be distracted by any man, no matter who he is. Or how intense. Or how captivating. Or so she thought. Tyler has the power to make her all her dreams come true, but should she say yes to a man who wants her to give him everything? Giving her heart and soul might not be possible. Now Tyler may discover that the one woman who taught him to love again is the one woman he might not be able to keep. Shear Wealth Carole LaBute, 2020-09-02 Book Delisted From Behind This Chair Sarahca Peterson, 2010-11-10 It all goes down at the shop. Well, at least that's the thinking of Tashelle. Jeahn's a talented hairstylist at one of the busiest salons in south Florida. Tashelle thinks that the drama around her doesn't affect her, but when a single event turns into a chain of downward spiraling events, Tashelle has no choice but to step back and realize that she is no longer an observer of the shop gossip, but she is the gossip. Working Class Without Work Lois Weis, 2013-10-15 The author explores issues of race, class, and gender among white working class youths, and she considers the roles of school and family in the production of the self. The book also examines the working class teens' attitudes toward and readiness for postfeminist thinking and the emerging American New Right. Presenting the first sustained ethnographic investigation of white working class youth in the context of deindustrialization, Weis offers a complex portrait of how these young people produce themselves in a society vastly different from that of their parents and grandparents. Interviewing and Diagnostic Exercises for Clinical and Counseling Skills Building Pearl S. Berman, WITH Susan N. Shopland, Susan N. Shopland, 2004-12-13 This book specifically designed to meet the needs of those teaching and learning interviewing and diagnostic skills in clinical counseling and school psychology, counselor education, and other programs preparing mental health professionals, offers a rich array of practical, hands-on class and workshop tested role playing and didactic exercises. The authors, who bring to their task a combined 31 years of practice and 24 years of teaching these skills, present 20 complex profiles of a broad range of clients: adults, teens, and children, differing in ethnicity, gender, religion, socioeconomic status, presenting problems, and problem severity. The profiles provide students, trainees, with a wealth of information about each client's feelings, thoughts, actions, and relationship patterns on which to draw as they proceed through the different phases of the intake: initial interview, one playing the client and one the interviewer. Each client profile is followed by exercises which can also be assigned to students not participating in role playing, who have simply read the profile. The profiles are detailed enough to support a focus on whatever interviewing skills an instructor particularly values. However, the exercises highlight attending, asking open and closed questions, engaging in reflective listening, responding to nonverbal behavior, making empathetic comments, summarizing, redirecting, supportively confronting, and commenting on process. The authors' approach to DSM-IV diagnoses encourages students to develop their diagnostic choices from Axis I to Axis V and then thoughtfully review them in reverse order from Axis V to Axis I to ensure that the impacts of individual, situational, and biological factors are all accurately reflected in the final diagnoses. Throughout, the authors emphasize the importance of understanding diversity and respecting the client's perceptions and of reflecting on the ways in which the interviewer's own identity influences both the process of interviewing and that of diagnosis.

Interviewing and Diagnostic Exercises for Clinical and Counseling Skills Building will be welcomed as an invaluable new resource by instructors, students, and trainees alike.

And since Mya is new to Atlanta, a couple of new friends wouldn't hurt either, which is exactly what she finds attached to a pair of burgundy boots. Childhood pals Stephanie Hall and Tangie Jackson are on their weekly girls' day out at the mall. After a brief tug of war over a sexy pair of boots with Mya, the three discover they have more in common than their taste in footwear.
