Affair Richard J. Hill, 2017-02-03 In his travel narrative Travels with a Donkey in the Cevennes 1879 Robert Louis Stevenson declares I travel not to go anywhere but to go I travel for travel's sake The great affair is to move Taking up the concepts of time place and memory the contributors to this collection explore in what ways the dynamic view of life suggested by this quotation permeates Stevenson's work The essays adopt a wide variety of critical approaches including post colonial theory post structuralism new historicism art history and philosophy making use of the vast array of literary materials that Stevenson left across a global journey that began in Scotland in 1850 and ended in Samoa in 1894 These range from travel journals letters and classic literary staples such as Treasure Island and The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde to rarely read masterpieces such as The Master of Ballantrae or The Ebb Tide While much recent scholarship on Stevenson foregrounds geography the present volume also examines the theme of movement across memory time and generic boundaries Taken together the essays offer a view of Stevenson that demonstrates how the protean nature of his literary output reflects the radical developments in science technology and culture that characterized the age in which he lived

Staff, Steck-Vaughn Company, 1994 The Risks of Knowing Karen Zelan, 2013-06-29 It gives me great pleasure to introduce this important and fascinating book on the internal dilemmas youngsters face in school which often cause them to stop learning We are all too ready to ascribe learning problems to an inability to learn and leave it at that This book should go a long way toward convincing us that using such simpleminded explanations and remedial efforts based on them do not work Unlike other books that identify the causes of learning disabilities in children or that detail society's impact on the so called helpless child The Risks of Knowing is an in depth study of young people who for reasons of intrapsychic conflicts and of intellectual development make a negative decision about the learning process This book is unique in its thorough analysis of the conflicts young people have with learning and in its treatment prescriptions In case after case Karen Zelan demonstrates that if young people declare themselves unable to learn it is because for some valid reasons they believe learning is dangerous The reasons that cause a decision to fail often remain unconscious until they are brought to the child's awareness When the child is helped to understand the source of any inner dilemmas both child and parents are able to find better solutions to immediate learning difficulties Karen Zelan brings a rare expertise to the problems young people find in academic learning

Professor Karlinsky is careful to supply the reader with the necessary context for understanding the work by setting out the historical, political, and literary background against which Tsvetaeva's life and literary development evolved. A particular feature of the book is a discussion of Tsvetaeva's relationships with her literary contemporaries, especially Mandelstam, Rilke, Akhmatova, Pasternak, and Mayakovsky, and of her emotional involvement with various men and women that are reflected in her poetry, plays, and prose.
