

"Right There" Questions

Some questions do not ask for information directly from the text, but require you to put together "clues" to prove your answer.

Question:

What season is it in this story?

Prove It! Answer:

The season in this story is winter. In the text it states, "she had to put on her coat, scarf, and mittens." This suggests it is cold outside. The text also says that she stayed up all night, "hoping school might be cancelled." I think this is because there was a snow storm.

Prove It Powerpoint 20questions:

, Principles of Genetics D. Peter Snustad, Michael J. Simmons, 2015-10-26 Principles of Genetics is one of the most popular texts in use for the introductory course. It opens a window on the rapidly advancing science of genetics by showing exactly how genetics is done. Throughout the authors incorporate a human emphasis and highlight the role of geneticists to keep students interested and motivated. The seventh edition has been completely updated to reflect the latest developments in the field of genetics. Principles of Genetics continues to educate today's students for tomorrow's science by focusing on features that aid in content comprehension and application. This text is an unbound three hole punched version.

Mastering Communication Nicki Stanton, 2009-07-16 This book will help students improve their speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills. It will give an understanding of the importance of good communication skills for their personal development and career.
