

Type I Trauma: Criminal Victimization

- Psychology of victimization:
  - Several layers property crime hurts a person at outer most level of the self; armed robbery invades a deeper level of the self due to direct contact with the robber and threatens physical harm; assault and battery injures the victim deeper physically and psychologically
- Rape goes to the core of the person and causes a loss of sense of safety and intimacy that sexual contact is supposed to have & impacts victim's basic beliefs, values, emotions and sense of safety
- Society response to crime victim may determine how supported or abandoned victim feels which impacts psychological responses to the event
