2. Abundant Labor Supply (immigration)

4. New Sources of Power (electricity, petroleum, steel)
5. Patents
6. Joint-stock companies, corporations

2. Describe the major events of the Second Industrial Revolution.

Major Technological Advancements of the Second Industrial Revolution: L&N, Bessemer process, air brakes, and telegraph systems on the railroads; the Bessemer and open hearth processes in the steel mills; the telephone, electric light, and typewriter.

3. Explain how the Second Industrial Revolution shaped various regions of the US.

Northwest

The Northwest was at the center of industrialization during the First Industrial Revolution. It contained the leading industrial regions in the Second Industrial Revolution, New York, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania produced more than 50 percent of all U.S. industrial products in 1890.

Almost 300,000 miles of railroad lines interconnected in the Northwest by 1890. The growth of railroads created a network of supporting industries. Chief among them was the steel industry that was centered mainly in western Pennsylvania. The steel for use in the rail tracks and iron ore was transported to the point of use by the industry in the region.

This rapid growth of a manufacturing economy created a need for specific workers. Cities in the Northwest became industrial centers like the Pennsylvania East coast in the United States. By 1870 about 25 percent of the U.S. population was foreign born. Most of the workers in industrial regions were immigrants. Most of these immigrants settled in the Northwest and the upper Midwest along the Great Lakes in Chicago.

The growth of industry also highlighted the gap between rich and poor in the region perhaps more than any other. As a result, political reform efforts emerged. Working organizations organized for economic growth. Working unions began to organize and working conditions. Labor unions formed first in the West Coast. Miners and carpenters, and other workers of the West united to form the labor union as a bargaining tool against business owners.

Southwest

The large region encompassed and encompassed growth in the Southwest and the Southwest. The upper Midwest states along the Great Lakes—Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois—formed a network of industry and a trade in shipping and to support. Cities grew rapidly, attracting large numbers of immigrants. Chicago, Illinois became one of the nation's largest cities.
