aspects of life Public health becomes the task of transforming the relationship between people their circumstances and the biological world of nature and bodies For Geof Rayner and Tim Lang this is about facing a number of long term transitions some well recognized others not These transitions are Demographic Epidemiological Urban Energy Economic Nutrition Biological Cultural and Democracy itself The authors argue that identifying large scale transitions such as these refocuses public health actions onto the conditions on which human and eco systems health interact Making their case Rayner and Lang map past confusions in public health images definitions and models This is an optimistic book arguing public health can be rescued from its current dilemmas and frustrations This century s agenda is unavoidably complex however and requires stronger and more daring combinations of interdisciplinary work movements and professions locally nationally and globally Outlining these in the concluding section the book charts a positive and reinvigorated institutional purpose Monarchism and Absolutism in Early Modern Europe Cesare Cuttica, Glenn Burgess, 2015-10-06 The 14 essays in this volume look at both the theory and practice of monarchical governments from the Thirty Years War up until the time of the French Revolution Contributors aim to unravel the constructs of absolutism and monarchism examining how the power and authority of monarchs was defined through contemporary politics and philosophy WealthWise Michael S. Catalog of Books , 1996 Animal Oppression and Human Violence David A. Nibert, 2013-05-07 Jared Diamond and other leading scholars have argued that the domestication of animals for food labor and tools of war has advanced the development of human society But by comparing practices of animal exploitation for food and resources in different societies over time David A Nibert reaches a strikingly different conclusion He finds in the domestication of animals which he renames domeseccration a perversion of human ethics the development of large scale acts of violence disastrous patterns of destruction and growth curbing epidemics of infectious disease Nibert centers his study on nomadic pastoralism and the development of commercial ranching a practice that has been largely controlled by elite groups and expanded with the rise of capitalism Beginning with the pastoral societies of the Eurasian steppe and continuing through to the exportation of Western meat centered eating habits throughout today s world Nibert connects the domeseccration of animals to violence invasion extermination displacement enslavement repression pandemic chronic disease and hunger In his view conquest and subjugation were the results of the need to appropriate land and water to maintain large groups of animals and the gross amassing of military power has its roots in the economic benefits of the exploitation exchange and sale of animals. Deadly zoonotic diseases Nibert shows have accompanied violent developments throughout history laying waste to whole cities, societies and civilizations. His most powerful insight situates the domestication of animals as a precondition for the oppression of human populations, particularly indigenous peoples, an injustice impossible to rectify while the material interests of the elite are inextricably linked to the exploitation of animals. Nibert links domestication to some of the most critical issues facing the world today, including the depletion of fresh water, topsoil and oil reserves, global warming and world hunger, and he reviews the U.S. government's military response to the inevitable crises of an overheated, hungry, resource-depleted world. Most animal advocacy campaigns reinforce current oppressive practices, Nibert argues. Instead, he suggests reforms that challenge the legitimacy of both domestication and capitalism.

The West Naoise Mac Sweeney, 2023-03-02 A BBC RADIO 4 Book of the Week. A fantastic achievement. Peter Frankopan, author of The Silk Roads, is bright, expansive and iconoclastic. This deliciously witty book has the potential to upset the applecart of Western Civilisation itself. Magnificent. Prof. Suzannah Lipscomb.

_____ A radical new account of how the idea of the West has shaped our history, told through the stories of fourteen fascinating lives. We tend to imagine Western Civilisation as a golden thread stretching from classical antiquity to the countries of the modern Western world. But what if this is wrong? Told through the lives of fourteen fascinating historical figures, including a formidable Roman matriarch, an unconventional Islamic scholar, an enslaved African American poetess and a British prime minister with Homeric aspirations, archaeologist and historian Naoise Mac Sweeney charts how the idea of the West was invented, how it has been used to justify imperialism and racism, and why it is no longer ideologically fit for purpose today. The result is a bold and empowering new story of the people and ideas who made us who we are today.
