The American Food Guide:

The Oxford Companion to American Food and Drink Andrew F. Smith, 2007-05-01 Offering a panoramic view of the history and culture of food and drink in America with fascinating entries on everything from the smell of asparagus to the history of White Castle and the origin of Bloody Marys to jambalaya the Oxford Companion to American Food and Drink provides a concise authoritative and exuberant look at this modern American obsession Ideal for the food scholar and food enthusiast alike it is equally appetizing for anyone fascinated by Americana capturing our culture and history through what we love most food Building on the highly praised and deliciously browseable two volume compendium the Oxford Encyclopedia of Food and Drink in America this new work serves up everything you could ever want to know about American consumables and their impact on popular culture and the culinary world Within its pages for example we learn that Lifesavers candy owes its success to the canny marketing idea of placing the original flavor mint next to cash registers at bars Patrons who bought them to mask the smell of alcohol on their breath before heading home soon found they were just as tasty sober and the company began producing other flavors Edited by Andrew Smith a writer and lecturer on culinary history the Companion serves up more than just trivia however including hundreds of entries on fast food celebrity chefs fish sandwiches regional and ethnic cuisine food science and historical food traditions It also dispels a few commonly held myths Veganism isn't simply the practice of a few hippies but is in fact wide spread among elite athletic circles Many of the top competitors in the Ironman and Ultramarathon events go even further avoiding all animal products by following a strictly vegan diet Anyone hungering to know what our nation has been cooking and eating for the last three centuries should own the Oxford Companion to American Food and Drink Audiovisual Guide to the Catalog of the Food and Nutrition Information and Educational Materials Center, 1977 Audiovisual Guide to the Catalog of the Food and Nutrition Information and Educational Materials Center Food and Nutrition Information Center (U.S.), 1977 America's Food Harvey Blatt, 2011-02-25 The complete story of what we don't know and what we should know about American food production and its effect on health and the environment We don't think much about how food gets to our tables or what had to happen to fill our supermarket's produce section with perfectly round red tomatoes and its meat counter with slabs of beautifully marbled steak We don't realize that the meat in one fast food hamburger may come from a thousand different cattle raised in five different countries In fact most of us have a fairly abstract understanding of what happens on a farm In America's Food Harvey Blatt gives us the specifics He tells us for example that a third of the fruits and vegetables grown are discarded for purely aesthetic reasons that the artificial fertilizers used to enrich our depleted soil contain poisonous heavy metals that chickens who stand all day on wire in cages choose feed with pain killing drugs over feed without them and that the average American eats his or her body weight in food additives each year Blatt also asks us to think about the consequences of eating food so far removed from agriculture why unhealthy food is cheap why there is an International

Federation of Competitive Eating what we don't want to know about how animals raised for meat live die and are butchered whether people are even designed to be carnivorous and why there is hunger when food production has increased so dramatically America's Food describes the production of all types of food in the United States and the environmental and health problems associated with each After taking us on a tour of the American food system not only the basic food groups but soil grain farming organic food genetically modified food food processing and diet Blatt reminds us that we aren't powerless Once we know the facts about food in America we can change things by the choices we make as consumers as voters and as ethical human beings

Remaking the North American Food System C. Clare Hinrichs, Thomas A. Lyson, 2007 Examines the resurgence of interest in rebuilding the links between agricultural production and food consumption With examples from Puerto Rico to Oregon to Quebec this work offers a North American perspective attuned to trends toward globalization at the level of markets and governance and shows how globalization affects specific localities
