Sin and Confession in Colonial Peru Regina Harrison, 2014-06-01 A central tenet of Catholic religious practice confession relies upon the use of language between the penitent and his or her confessor In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries as Spain colonized the Quechua speaking Andean world the communication of religious beliefs and practices especially the practice of confession to the native population became a primary concern and as a result expansive bodies of Spanish ecclesiastic literature were translated into Quechua In this fascinating study of the semantic changes evident in translations of Catholic catechisms sermons and manuals Regina Harrison demonstrates how the translated texts often retained traces of ancient Andean modes of thought despite the didactic lessons they contained In Sin and Confession in Colonial Peru Harrison draws directly from confession manuals to demonstrate how sin was newly defined in Quechua lexemes how the role of women was circumscribed to fit Old World patterns and how new monetized perspectives on labor and trade were taught to the subjugated indigenous peoples of the Andes by means of the Ten Commandments Although outwardly confession appears to be an instrument of oppression the reformer Bartolom de Las Casas influenced priests working in the Andes through their agency confessional practice ultimately became a political weapon to compel Spanish restitution of Incan lands and wealth Bringing together an unprecedented study and translation of Quechua religious texts with an expansive history of Andean and Spanish transculturation Harrison uses the lens of confession to understand the vast and telling ways in which language changed at the intersection of culture and religion

Modern research methodologies as well as the use of machine and statistical learning in software engineering research are covered in this book. This book contains the refereed proceedings of the Software Engineering Perspectives in Systems part of the 11th Computer Science On line Conference 2022 CSOC 2022 which was held in April 2022 online      The Oxford Guide to Contemporary World Literature John Sturrock, 1997 opinion the Guide offers a discriminating and sometimes controversial view of a broad range of contemporary literatures      Global Change and the Terrestrial Biosphere H. H. Shugart, F. I. Woodward, 2011-06-13 Global climate change challenges ecologists to synthesize what we know to solve a problem with deep historical roots in our discipline. In ecology the question How do terrestrial ecosystems interact with the other earth systems to produce planetary change has sufficient depth to be the focal challenge. This central question is sharpened further as the changes that we may be manifesting upon our planet's systems of land, sea, air, and ice can have potential consequences for the future of human civilization. This book provides the depth of the history of global ecology and reviews the breadth of the ideas being studied today. Each chapter starts with a brief narrative about a scientist whose work traces forward into today's issues in global ecosystems. The discussions are framed in a growing realization that we may be altering the way our planet functions almost before we have gained the necessary knowledge of how it works at all.
