The International Handbook of Creativity James C. Kaufman, Robert J. Sternberg, 2006-04-03 What constitutes a creative person Is it someone who can perform many tasks innovatively Is it someone who exhibits creative genius in one area Is it someone who utilizes her creativity for good and moral causes Is it someone who uses his creativity to help his company or country succeed Different cultures have different perspectives on what it means to be creative yet it is nearly always the American or Western perspective that is represented in the psychological literature The goal of The International Handbook of Creativity is to present a truly international and diverse set of perspectives on the psychology of human creativity Distinguished scholars from around the world have written chapters for this book about the history and current state of creativity research and theory in their respective parts of the world The 2006 book presents a wide array of international perspectives and research Neotropical Savannas and Seasonally Dry Forests R. Toby Pennington, James A.

Ratter, 2006-05-25 More often than not when people think of a neotropical forest what comes to mind is a rain forest rather than a dry forest Just as typically when they imagine a savanna they visualize the African plains rather than those dry woodlands and grasslands found in the Neotropics These same preconceptions can be found among scientists as these ne
