Regional Mortality Differences in Germany Eva U.B. Kibele, 2012-10-01 Regional mortality differences are one dimension of health inequalities but its trends and determinants in Germany are widely unknown This book examines and illustrates patterns of regional mortality in Germany with focus on small area differentials and their changes over time It identifies explanatory factors at individual and regional level Mortality differences between eastern and western Germany exist but small area mortality differentials are often greater Though the main spatial mortality patterns remain this study provides evidence that some distinct changes in the small area mortality patterns in Germany especially among women occurred within a short period of time Mortality inequalities at younger ages and in behavior related causes as well as differences in socioeconomic conditions contribute strongly to regional mortality differences in Germany The book shows that the complex interplay between individual and regional level mortality risk factors requires a multidimensional approach to reduce regional mortality inequalities Demographics of Korea and Germany Bernhard Köppen, Norbert F. Mortality and Causes of Death in 20th-Century Ukraine France Meslé, Jacques Vallin, 2012-01-07 The Ukraine faced two very different kinds of health crises during the twentieth century First in the 1930s and 1940s famine war and political upheaval caused massive population losses Previous evaluations of overall losses have given an idea of the scale of these catastrophes but do not distinguish between crisis mortality birth shortfall and loss through emigration Based on a painstaking work of reconstitution this study is the first to provide a detailed estimation of the hecatomb in terms of number of deaths and life expectancy The famine of 1933 was alone responsible for the deaths of 2.6 million Ukrainians and reduced male and female life expectancies to 7 and 11 years respectively Once the crises of the 1930s and 1940s were over the earlier trend in health resumed and mortality declined steadily until the 1960s At this point however a new type of crisis appeared that caused a sustained reversal in the existing trends Life expectancy for women stopped increasing altogether while that for men began a relentless year on year regression Notwithstanding the confusing picture created by the fluctuations of the 1980s and 1990s the long term trend is to further deterioration To understand the factors involved this study analyses in detail the combined effects of different causes of death at different ages
