This book focuses on the role of norms in the description, explanation, prediction and combat of corruption. It conceives corruption as a ubiquitous problem constructed by specific traditions, values, norms and institutions. The chapters concentrate on the relationship between corruption and social as well as legal norms, providing comparative perspectives from different academic disciplines, theoretical and methodological backgrounds and various country studies. Due to the nature of social norms that are embedded in personal, local and organizational contexts, the contributions in the volume focus in particular on the individual and institutional level of analysis, micro and meso mechanisms. The book will be of interest to students and scholars across the fields of political science, public administration, socio-legal studies and psychology      Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi-year cumulation covers six years 1965-70      Process Engineering, 1986      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1971      U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Library System Book Catalog United States.
