

MAKING INFERENCES

Name: _____

JUST BE YOURSELF

Jenny was about to start her first day at a new school. She jumped out of bed early and proudly put on her new school uniform. She couldn't wait to board the school bus and start making friends. When she got on the bus she started showing everyone her cool magic tricks. But all the students moved away from her and sat at front of the bus. When she got to school she tried making lots of jokes in class to get the other students to like her. But the other kids just gave her strange looks or ignored her. So at lunch time she decided to just be herself. She asked the other kids about their weekend and their hobbies. Suddenly a large group had formed around her. Everyone was interested in getting to know the new girl! And that's how Jenny finally made friends at her new school.

1. How was Jenny feeling about her first day of school?

How did you make this inference?

2. Did the students like Jenny's magic tricks and her jokes?

How did you make this inference?

3. Why did the other students like Jenny at the end?

How did you make this inference?

Wade Boykin,Pedro Noguera,2011-09-22 Unless we believe that those who have more are inherently superior to those who have less we should be troubled by the fact that patterns of achievement are often fairly predictable particularly with respect to students race and class In Creating the Opportunity to Learn Wade Boykin and Pedro Noguera help navigate the turbid waters of evidence based methodologies and chart a course toward closing and eliminating the academic achievement gap Turning a critical eye to current and recent research the authors present a comprehensive view of the achievement gap and advocate for strategies that contribute to the success of all children Boykin and Noguera maintain that it is possible to close the achievement gap by abandoning failed strategies learning from successful schools and simply doing more of what the research shows is most effective Success is founded on equity but equity involves more than simply ensuring students have equal access to education equity also entails a focus on outcomes and results If we want to bring about significant improvements in those outcomes we have to do more to address the context in which learning takes place In short we must create schools where a child's race or class is no longer a predictor for how well he or she might perform

Critical Thinking: Keys to Organization Brenda Rollins, 2013-05-01 This is the chapter slice Keys to Organization from the full lesson plan Critical Thinking With Critical Thinking Students will gain the ability to not only understand what they have read but how to build upon that knowledge independently by examining such skills as independent thinking organization asking questions and problem solving Definitions of important terms and many opportunities to practice the skills being taught make our resource user friendly and easy to understand In addition the objectives used in this book are structured using Bloom's Taxonomy of Learning to ensure educational appropriateness You will be able to teach students the basic skills they will need to become critical thinkers What they will learn from our resource will be just the beginning of a critical thinking journey that will continue through college and into adulthood All of our content meets the Common Core State Standards and are written to Bloom's Taxonomy
