Testing and Assessment in Translation and Interpreting Studies Claudia V. Angelelli, Holly E. Jacobson, 2009 Testing and Assessment in Translation and Interpreting Studies examines issues of measurement that are essential to translation and interpreting Conceptualizing testing both as a process and a product the collection of papers explores these issues across languages and settings including university classrooms research projects the private sector and professional associations The authors have approached their chapters from different perspectives using a variety of methods some focusing on very specific variables and others providing a much broader overview of the issues at hand Chapters range from a discussion of the measurement of text cohesion in translation the measurement of interactional competence in interpreting the use of a particular scale to measure interpreters renditions to the application of a specific approach to grading or general program assessment such as interpreter or translator certification at the national level or program admissions processes These studies point to the need for greater integration of research and practice in the specific area of testing and assessment and are a welcome addition to the field

Sign Language Brokering in Deaf-Hearing Families Jemina Napier, 2021-04-15 This book details a study of sign language brokering that is carried out by deaf and hearing people who grow up using sign language at home with deaf parents known as heritage signers Child language brokering CLB is a form of interpreting carried out informally by children typically for migrant families The study of sign language brokering has been largely absent from the emerging body of CLB literature The book gives an overview of the international multi stage mixed method study employing an online survey semi structured interviews and visual methods to explore the lived experiences of deaf parents and heritage signers It will be of interest to practitioners and academics working with signing deaf communities and those who wish to pursue professional practice with deaf communities as well as academics and students in the fields of Applied Linguistics Intercultural Communication Interpreting Studies and the Social Science of Childhood

Research Methods in Legal Translation and Interpreting Lucja Biel, Jan Engberg, Rosario Martín Ruano, Vilelmini Sosoni, 2019-05-09 The field of Legal translation and interpreting has strongly expanded over recent years As it has developed into an independent branch of Translation Studies this book advocates for a substantiated discussion of methods and methodology as well as knowledge about the variety of approaches actually applied in the field It is argued that complex and multifaceted as it is legal translation calls for research that might cross boundaries across research approaches and disciplines in order to shed light on the many facets of this social practice The volume addresses the challenge of methodological consolidation triangulation and refinement The work presents examples of the variety of theoretical approaches which have been developed in the discipline and of the methodological sophistication which is currently being called for In this regard by combining different perspectives they expand our understanding of the roles played by legal translators and interpreters who emerge as linguistic and intercultural mediators dealing with a rich variety of legal texts as knowledge communicators and as builders of specialised knowledge as social agents performing a socially situated activity as decision makers and agents subject to and redefining power relations and as political actors shaping legal cultures and negotiating cultural identities as well as their own professional identity Chapter 2 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Multimodal Im/politeness Andreas H. Jucker, Iris Hübscher, Lucien Brown, 2023-02-21 Politeness and impoliteness are not just expressed by words People communicate polite and impolite attitudes towards each other through their intonation tone of voice their facial expressions their gestures the positioning of their bodies towards each other and so on This volume brings together eleven empirical studies that investigate these various modalities of im politeness across signed spoken and written languages plus a detailed introductory chapter that establishes a framework for the multimodal investigation of im politeness The papers cover a range of languages and cultures including Swiss German Sign Language Catalan Sign Language English as a native language and as a lingua franca Korean Catalan Persian Japanese and Spanish Using a range of data sources and state of the art methodologies the papers reveal that these multimodal features are essential aspects of im politeness across different languages cultures and modes of interaction Put together the findings from these studies lay the groundwork for a new understanding of im politeness which is fundamentally multimodal

Interpreting Across Genres Cynthia J. Kellett Bidoli, 2012

Taboo in Sign Languages Donna Jo Napoli, Jami Fisher, Gene Mirus, 2023-10-26

Taboo topics in deaf communities include the usual ones found in spoken languages as well as ones particular to deaf experiences both in how deaf people relate to hearing people and how deaf people interact with other deaf people Attention to these topics can help linguists understand better the consequences of field method choices and lead them to adopt better ones Taboo expressions in American Sign Language are innovative regarding the linguistic structures they play with This creativity is evident across the grammar in non taboo expressions but seems to revel in profane ones When it comes to the syntax however certain types of structures occur in taboo expressions that are all but absent elsewhere showing grammatical possibilities that might have gone unnoticed without attention to taboo Taboo expressions are innovative as well in how they respond to changing culture where lexical items that are incoherent with community sensibilities are corrected

Politeness in Professional Contexts Dawn Archer, Karen Grainger, Piotr Jagodziński, 2020-08-15

Much like in everyday life politeness is key to the smooth running of relationships and interactions Professional contexts however tend to be characterised by a plethora of behaviours that may be specific to that context They include polite behaviours impolite behaviours and behaviours that arguably fall somewhere between or outside such concepts The twelve chapters making up this edited collection explore these behaviours in a range of communication contexts representative of business medical legal and security settings Between them the contributions will help readers to theorize about and in some cases operationalize im politeness and related behaviours for these real world settings The authors take a broad yet theoretically underpinned definition of politeness and use it to help explain analyse and inform professional interactions They demonstrate the importance of understanding how interactions are negotiated and managed in professional settings The edited collection has something to offer therefore to academics professionals and practitioners alike
