winemaking world's best kept secret And publication of Wines of the Rh ne Valley coincides with reports that the 1995 vintage from this region may be one of the best ever With the precursor of this book The Wines of the Rh ne Valley and Provence first published in 1987 Parker began a campaign to share with the wine consumer the wealth of wines found in this underappreciated region The area contains the oldest vineyards in France indeed the heyday of some of the Rh ne Valley wines was 2 000 years ago around the time of the Roman conquest of France In recent centuries these wines have been misunderstood and ignored and consequently undervalued All of which means that some of the great wines of the world are available for a fraction of the cost of those from better known regions Wines of the Rh ne Valley is the ultimate resource for every wine lover highlighting both the greatest wines of the Rh ne Valley and the region's finest wine values These wines range in Parker's words from the humble generic C tes du Rh ne to the most sublime and celestial wines of C te R tie Hermitage Condrieu and Ch teauneuf du Pape With his trademark thoroughness Parker has fully revised and expanded this edition to reflect changes in the region new personalities and the latest vintages Parker's previous books the critically acclaimed Bordeaux and Burgundy and four widely praised editions of the Wine Buyer's Guide firmly established him in Time magazine's words as the man with the paragon palate His appeal lies not only in his unabashed consumer advocacy insightful reporting and clear lyrical writing but in the deep enthusiasm that infuses his work Parker is an impassioned champion of wine and has made it his cause to give everyone from the novice whose curiosity about wine is just burgeoning to the expert who cellars by the case the information they need to be informed buyers and educated consumers In this edition Parker returns to the region closest to his heart exploring the sun drenched Rh ne Valley in unprecedented candor and detail Wines of the Rh ne Valley is divided into two main sections the lush valleys of northern Rh ne and the sunbaked hillsides of the southern Rh ne Within the sections Parker profiles each appellation A handy summary box provides information at a glance including types of wines produced grape varieties planted and number of acres under vine The price range of the wines is listed along with an assessment of their quality and aging potential The description of the appellation that follows its history and personalities successes and failures is accompanied by a rating of recent and older vintages Then Parker provides his classification of the growers of each appellation comments on and explains how the wines are vinified and bottled and gives guidelines for how long to cellar and when to serve the wines Brief aromatic and textural profiles in this section give a hint of the detailed tasting notes that accompany the profiles of the top producers later in the chapters Throughout Parker tastes and evaluates the wines using his revolutionary 50 100 point scale The book's introduction thoroughly explains Parker's methodology and gives guidelines on how to use his ratings and reviews most effectively His wine terms are also defined in a detailed glossary And there's a section that provides Parker's guidelines for what a visitor traveling in the Rh ne Valley can expect to pay for a meal as well as recommendations for restaurants and lodging Wines of the Rh ne Valley is certainly the most comprehensive and detailed book ever written on this region These wines long overshadowed by their more well known neighbors are now thoroughly analyzed and reviewed providing the ultimate resource for today's savvy wine consumer     A Vineyard in the Dordogne Jeremy Josephs, 2002 A generation ago the Ryman family arrived in the Dordogne to follow a dream to live in France in an elegant<sup>nb</sup>sp chateau and make wine in a vineyard of their own It didn't take them long to discover and fall in love with Chateau de la Jaubertie a beautiful 400 year old country mansion set in the heart of the lush green valley of the Dordogne Together the family embarked on a search for a new life a la francaise But they had not anticipated the steep learning curve required to deal with the local French people and their customs nor the passions and rifts that were to erupt within the family In taking a vineyard producing barely drinkable wine they created the finest wines in Bergerac However the search for their dream almost tore them apart and the family would never be quite the same again     The Ripening Sun Patricia Atkinson, 2004 This is a remarkable story of struggle and transformation After emigrating in 1990 Patricia Atkinson began life in the Dordogne with 4 hectares of vines now she has a major estate of 21 hectares her wines have won awards and have been adopted by wine merchants throughout the world Originally published London Century 2003
