Antiquity Richard Kalmin,2002-02-07 The Sage in Jewish Society of Late Antiquity explores the social position of rabbis in Palestinian Roman and Babylonian Persian society from the period of the fall of the Temple to late antiquity The author argues that ancient rabbinic sources depict comparable differences between Palestinian and Babylonian rabbinic relationships with non Rabbis Rabbinic Theology and Jewish Intellectual History Meir Seidler,2012-11-12 Rabbi Loew the Maharal of Prague remains one of the most influential and prolific Jewish thinkers of his time Widely considered one of the fathers of Hassidic thought and a harbinger of Modern Jewish philosophy his life and work have retained their influence and remain prevalent today Adopting a multi disciplinary approach this book ranges from an analysis of the historical background to Maharal s thought to examining the relevance of this thought in the modern era before addressing the popular cultural and folkloristic reception of Maharal s impact on modern Western culture This book presents a new understanding of familiar material and will be an invaluable asset to students and scholars of Modern and Early Modern Jewish History and Intellectual thought Jewish Babylonia between Persia and Roman Palestine Richard Kalmin,2006-10-26 The Babylonian Talmud was compiled in the third through sixth centuries CE by rabbis living under Sasanian Persian rule in the area between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. What kind of society did these rabbis inhabit? What effect did that society have on important rabbinic texts? In this book, Richard Kalmin offers a thorough reexamination of rabbinic culture of late antique Babylonia. He shows how this culture was shaped in part by Persia on the one hand and by Roman Palestine on the other. The mid-fourth century CE in Jewish Babylonia was a period of particularly intense Palestinianization at the same time that the Mesopotamian and east Persian Christian communities were undergoing a period of intense Syrianization. Kalmin argues that these closely related processes were accelerated by third-century Persian conquests deep into Roman territory, which resulted in the resettlement of thousands of Christian and Jewish inhabitants of the eastern Roman provinces in Persian Mesopotamia, eastern Syria, and western Persia, profoundly altering the cultural landscape for centuries to come. Kalmin also offers new interpretations of several fascinating rabbinic texts of late antiquity. He shows how they have often been misunderstood by historians who lack attentiveness to the role of anonymous editors in glossing or emending earlier texts and who insist on attributing these texts to sixth-century editors rather than to storytellers and editors of earlier centuries who introduced changes into the texts they learned and transmitted. He also demonstrates how Babylonian rabbis interacted with the non-rabbinic Jewish world, often in the form of the incorporation of centuries-old non-rabbinic Jewish texts into the developing Talmud rather than via the encounter with actual non-rabbinic Jews in the streets and marketplaces of Babylonia. Most of these texts were domesticated prior to their inclusion in the Babylonian Talmud, which was generally accomplished by means of the rabbinization of the non-rabbinic texts. Rabbis transformed a story's protagonists into rabbis rather than kings or priests or portrayed them studying Torah rather than engaging in other activities, since Torah study was viewed by them as the most important, perhaps the only important human activity. Kalmin's arguments shed new light on rabbinic Judaism in late antique society. This book will be invaluable to any student or scholar of this period.

Lettre à mon gendre agnostique pour lui expliquer la foi chrétienne Antoine Nouis, 2010. Le gendre de l'auteur scientifique est agnostique, considérant que l'absolu demeure inaccessible à l'être humain. Son beau-père théologien aimerait lui expliquer pourquoi il croit en Jésus-Christ et comment ses convictions se nourrissent de la Bible et de la tradition. D'abord, l'auteur rappelle son gendre ce que la Bible dit de l'humain, particulièrement sur les questions de la création, chapitre sensible dans la relation entre un scientifique et un croyant. Puis, il évoque ce que la Bible dit de Dieu, avant de préciser les conditions d'une existence chrétienne traduite dans les catégories de la foi, comme don, protestation et confiance. Dans cette lettre, qui se lit d'une traite, Antoine Nouis dit l'essentiel d'un catéchisme chrétien avec des mots et des exemples accessibles, tous loin de la langue de bois et sans carter les défis posés par d'autres courants de pensée. On y rencontre des exemples tirés de la vie courante et quelques petites histoires stimulantes permettant de mettre en scène une argumentation en faveur de la foi. Ce livre offre une petite introduction simple et intelligente à la foi chrétienne pour ceux qui la rejettent mais aussi pour quiconque veut l'approfondir. Page 4 de la couverture. At
