Sublime Dreams of Living Machines

Minsoo Kang, 2011-02-14 From the dawn of European civilization to the twentieth century the automaton better known today as the robot has captured the Western imagination and provided a vital lens into the nature of humanity Historian Minsoo Kang argues that to properly understand the human as machine and the human as fundamentally different from machine we must trace the origins of these ideas and examine how they were transformed by intellectual cultural and artistic appearances of the automaton throughout the history of the West Kang tracks the first appearance of the automaton in ancient myths through the medieval and Renaissance periods marks the proliferation of the automaton as a central intellectual concept in the Scientific Revolution and the subsequent backlash during the Enlightenment and details appearances in Romantic literature and the introduction of the living machine in the Industrial Age He concludes with a reflection on the destructive confrontation between humanity and machinery in the modern era and the reverberations of the humanity machinery theme today Sublime Dreams of Living Machines is an ambitious historical exploration and at heart an attempt to fully elucidate the rich and varied ways we have utilized our most uncanny creations to explore essential questions about ourselves

Stellan Ohlsson, 2011-01-31 Although the ability to retain process and project prior experience onto future situations is indispensable the human mind also possesses the ability to override experience and adapt to changing circumstances Cognitive scientist Stellan Ohlsson analyzes three types of deep non monotonic cognitive change creative insight adaptation of cognitive skills by learning from errors and conversion from one belief to another incompatible belief For each topic Ohlsson summarizes past research re formulates the relevant research questions and proposes information processing mechanisms that answer those questions The three theories are based on the principles of redistribution of activation specialization of practical knowledge and re subsumption of declarative information Ohlsson develops the implications of those mechanisms by scaling their effects with respect to time complexity and social interaction The book ends with a unified theory of non monotonic cognitive change that captures the abstract properties that the three types of change share Etiam Tu: Tak tse Profit, 2015-10-15 Etiam Tu Eradicating Hatred is the first installment in the Etiam Tu book series It is the initial explanation of the philosophy of Etiam Tu as it applies to mankind's most immediate threat to his continued existence Hatred This book seeks to affect change in its reader's perception of the actual circumstances that humanity shares It identifies the sources of the Hatred we are subjected to the motivations that create and maintain it and the numerous forms in which it is manifested Its goal is to alert its reader and raise their awareness by thoroughly exploring this multi faceted threat examining each form and humanity's role in maintaining their existence Ultimately educating each reader in an attempt to enlist their voluntary individual efforts to assist in Eradicating this evil from the collective human psyche once and for all forever
