future technology Worldwide IT professionals are sharing and trading concepts and ideas for effective IT management and this co operation is what leads to solid IT management practices This volume is a collection of papers that present IT management perspectives from professionals around the world The papers seek to offer new ideas refine old ones and pose interesting scenarios to help the reader develop company sensitive management strategies Consideration of Environmental Factors in Transportation Systems Planning A. Amekudzi,2005 This report describes the transportation planning process and discusses where and how environmental factors can be addressed effectively at the state and metropolitan levels This report should be especially useful to federal state department of transportation DOT metropolitan planning organization MPO and local transportation planners as well as other practitioners concerned with addressing environmental factors within transportation systems planning priority programming and project development planning leading to implementation The research focused on environmental issues within the long range transportation planning processes of state DOTs and MPOs and included the following 1 a comprehensive review of recent literature 2 a survey of approaches employed by state DOTs MPOs and environmental regulatory agencies 3 a review of federal regulations and guidance on environmental factors and 4 case studies to synthesize current practice in environmental planning Building the Virtual State Jane E. Fountain,2004-05-28 The benefits of using technology to remake government seem almost infinite The promise of such programs as user friendly virtual agencies and portals where citizens can access all sections of government from a single website has excited international attention The potential of a digital state cannot be realized however unless the rigid structures of the contemporary bureaucratic state change along with the times Building the Virtual State explains how the American public sector must evolve and adapt to exploit the possibilities of digital governance fully and fairly The book finds that many issues involved in integrating technology and government have not been adequately debated or even recognized Drawing from a rich collection of case studies the book argues that the real challenges lie not in achieving the technical capability of creating a government on the web but rather in overcoming the entrenched organizational and political divisions within the state Questions such as who pays for new government websites which agencies will maintain the sites and who will ensure that the privacy of citizens is respected reveal the extraordinary obstacles that confront efforts to create a virtual state These political and structural battles will influence not only how the American state will be remade in the Information Age but also who will be the winners and losers in a digital society Building a Learning Health System in Pediatric Rheumatology Esi Morgan,Sheetal S. Vora,Constance Mara,Beth Gottlieb,2025-03-26 The learning health system model has been proposed as a framework to address contemporary challenges in health care delivery and spur clinical research and discovery A continuum of quality improvement and implementation science methods are applied to address shortcomings and failures in the current health care system with a goal of improving patient outcomes efficiency quality and safety of care while also leveraging clinical information systems for data analysis and investigation The current practice of pediatric rheumatology faces workforce shortages and limited access to care delayed diagnosis unwarranted variation in treatment health care disparities lack of shared decision making limited patient education and self management support and resultant suboptimal outcomes This Research Topic seeks to gather best practice examples of real world interventions to improve quality of care in pediatric rheumatology and to support a better performing healthcare delivery system
