Drawing Thought Andrea Kantrowitz, 2022-10-11

Drawing as a tool of thought an investigation of drawing cognition and creativity that integrates text and hand drawn images Drawing is a way of constructing ideas and observations as much as it is a means of expressing them When we are not ready or able to put our thoughts into words we can sometimes put them down in arrangements of lines and marks Artists designers architects and others draw to generate explore and test perceptions and mental models In Drawing Thought artist educator Andrea Kantrowitz invites readers to use drawing to extend and reflect on their own thought processes She interweaves illuminating hand drawn images with text integrating recent findings in cognitive psychology and neuroscience with accounts of her own artistic and teaching practices The practice of drawing seems to be found across almost all known human cultures with its past stretching back into the caves of prehistory It takes advantage of the ways in which human cognition is embodied and situated in relationship to the environments in which we find ourselves We become more aware of the interplay between our external surroundings and the inner workings of our minds as we draw We can trace moments of perception and understanding in a sketchbook that might otherwise be lost and go back to reexamine and revise those traces later Kantrowitz encourages readers to draw out their own ideas and observations through a series of guided exercises and experiments with her lively drawings and engaging text pointing the way Drawing is a tool for thought in anyone s hands it is creativity in action

A Guide to Documenting Learning Silvia Rosenthal Tolisano, Janet A. Hale, 2018-01-06

A new approach to contemporary documentation and learning. What is learning? How do we look for, capture, reflect on, and share learning to foster meaningful and active engagement? A Guide to Documenting Learning helps educators answer these questions. Documenting learning is a process that makes thinking about learning processes visible, meaningful, shareable, and amplified. It facilitates student-driven learning, helping students reflect on and articulate their own learning processes. It also helps teachers reflect on their own learning and classroom practice. When teachers are co-creators with their students, both gain valuable insights that inform future learning and empower students as engaged learners. This unique how-to book explains the purposes and different types of documentation. Teaches different LearningFlow systems to help educators integrate documentation throughout the curriculum. Provides authentic examples of documentation in real classrooms. Is accompanied by a robust companion website where readers can find even more documentation examples and video tutorials. Written for educators of any grade level, this book provides insights into contemporary learning and professional learning environments and emphasizes the power of technology to amplify teaching and learning beyond school walls. This book touches upon information that would be useful to any school system because it scaffolds ways that educators can help students make their thinking known, which will only improve their future reasoning skills.

LaQuita Outlaw, Principal Bay Shore Middle School, Bay Shore, NY. This book will become an important guide for schools and educators to have on their shelves. The content is original, highly organized, and presents many new ideas on documenting learning. It takes what is happening in the world of teaching right now and elevates it to a coherent pedagogical process. The graphics are a fantastic resource.
