The Mekong Ian Charles Campbell, 2009-11-20 The Mekong is the most controversial river in Southeast Asia and increasingly the focus of international attention It flows through 6 countries China Myanmar Laos Thailand Cambodia and Viet Nam The 4 downstream countries have formed the Mekong River Commission to promote sustainable development of the river and many of their people depend on it for their subsistence it has possible the largest freshwater fishery in the world and the Mekong waters support rice agriculture in the delta in Viet Nam which produces about 40% of that country s food as well as in Cambodia Laos and Thailand China is now building the first large mainstream dam on the river and has proposals for several more. These dams are likely to affect the downstream countries. Several of the downstream countries also have plans for large scale hydropower and irrigation development which could also impact the river. This book will provide a solid overview of the biophysical environment of the Mekong together with a discussion of the possible impacts biophysical, economic and social of some possible development scenarios. It is intended to provide a technical basis which can inform the growing political and conservation debate about the future of the Mekong River and those who depend on it. It is aimed at river ecologists, geographers, environmentalists and development specialists both in the basin and especially outside for whom access to this material is most difficult. This book will be the first comprehensive treatment of the Mekong system. The first comprehensive overview of all aspects of the Mekong River system. Deals with a regionally critical ecosystem and one under threat. The Mekong supports the world's largest freshwater fishery and provides water underpinning a major regional rice paddy system. Presents the authoritative findings of the Mekong River Commission's research for a wider audience for the first time outside of limited distribution reports.

The Canon in Southeast Asian Literatures David Smyth, 2000. The literary canon is one of the most lively areas of debate in contemporary literary studies. This set of essays is both timely and original in its focus on the canon in South East Asian literatures covering Burma, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam. They vary in focus from the broad panoramic survey of trends in a national literature to very specific discussions of the role of individuals in shaping a canon or the place of a particular text within a tradition and from contemporary to traditional literature. They include discussions of the development of prose fiction, censorship and artistic freedom, the role of westerners in codifying indigenous literatures, the writing of literary history, the development of literary criticism and indigenous aesthetics.
