Classroom Discourse Competence Katrin Thomson, 2022-04-04 In language learning contexts the role of the language teacher is a particularly crucial one it is the teacher who through and with their use of the foreign language has a significant influence on the extent to which language learners are linguistically cognitively activated and thus determines whether processes of language learning are initiated and promoted or perhaps even impeded or prevented. Thus it is of utmost importance for language teachers to acquire a high level of classroom discourse competence. CDC is a professional competence that goes far beyond the notions of FL proficiency and communicative competence. Located at the intersection of theory, classroom research, and practical approaches to EFL teacher education, Classroom Discourse Competence: Current Issues in Language Teaching and Teacher Education offers university students, trainee teachers, in-service teachers, and teacher educators a comprehensive conceptualization of CDC. Part I Furthermore, the chapters in this book explore facets of CDC. Part II and present good practice examples of CDC development in the context of pre-service teacher education. Part III

The Teacher's Guide to Media Literacy Cyndy Scheibe, Faith Rogow, 2012 A Deeper Sense of Literacy is the first book to suggest that media literacy is both a content area and an approach to teaching that can be integrated into any subject area. It combines theory and practical application in a way that addresses the most important questions related to media literacy in education today: what is it? why is it important? how can you teach it across a wide range of curriculum areas and grade levels? and does it work? Rather than focusing on how to teach media literacy, Scheibe and Rogow focus on actually using media literacy to teach lessons across the content areas. Resources in Education, 1999

The Technology Coordinator's Handbook Max Frazier, Doug Hearnington, 2024 Technology coordinators and facilitators must be able to navigate the complexities of a school community's technology needs and serve a variety of individuals including students, teachers, and administrators.
