Target Cost Contracting Strategy in Construction Daniel W.M. Chan, Joseph H.L. Chan, 2016-10-14 The problems inherent in the traditional design bid build procurement method often lead to the adversarial working relationships within the construction industry Target cost contracts accompanied by a gain share pain share arrangement serving as a cost incentive mechanism have emerged in the United States the United Kingdom Australia and Hong Kong with the aim of achieving better value for money and more satisfactory overall project performance under a collaborative working relationship This book presents the underlying principles practicalities and a series of short case studies of applying the target cost contracting strategy Principles begin with the fundamentals then cover the development of target cost contracting in major countries cities definitions of target cost contracting perceived benefits potential difficulties and critical success factors for implementation Practices include the target cost contracting approach and process in general the key risk factors risk assessment model risk allocation and risk mitigation measures for target cost contracts in particular together with a conceptual framework for the performance measurement of target cost contracts Several short real life case studies from the United Kingdom Hong Kong Australia and New Zealand are provided for further illustration The book will appeal to a wide spectrum of readers from industrial practitioners to undergraduate students researchers and academics interested in construction contracts and procurement methods

Making Sense of Innovation in the Built Environment Natalya Sergeeva, 2019-01-15 This book offers a new understanding of innovation in the built environment The ways meaning of innovation is constructed has important implications for policymakers project managers academics and students Through a longitudinal research study into innovation in firms and projects the book addresses some key themes challenges and concerns that practitioners face when managing innovation in the built environment It examines the key drivers for innovation in the construction engineering and infrastructure firms and projects In particular the questions of how and why innovation becomes recognised and sustained over time are explored Different theoretical perspectives are considered to explain different aspects of innovation This includes sensemaking organisational and individual identity storytelling and narration The book has practical implications for how organisational activities become labelled as innovation and for what purpose It shares some lived stories of innovation as mobilised by practising managers The connectivity between the formal narratives of innovation at the policy level and the lived narratives of innovation articulated by practitioners is explored Combining the theory with practice this book presents an insightful view on the implications of innovation in the business world today

Sustainable Design and Construction in Africa Oluwaseun Dosumu, Clinton Aigbavboa, 2018-08-14 This book addresses some of the countless challenges faced by developing countries when adopting sustainable design and construction and offers suggestions for the way forward for African development projects The authors argue that the pervasive non consideration of the interrelationship between the elements of sustainable design and construction is the reason for the current failures in sustainable design and construction in developed countries By treating sustainability as a complex system the authors provide the missing link between the design and construction of projects in a sustainable way with a view to improving industry and project performance In doing so the book posits the need for improved sustainability practice in developing countries lessons for developing countries from the successes and failures of sustainability adoption by developed nations factors influencing adoption of sustainability and effects of sustainable designs and construction on productivity human health and the environment at large This book will be of interest to construction researchers practitioners professional bodies housing policy makers and government institutions as well as training and funding providers in these areas

Valuing People in Construction Fidelis Emuze, John Smallwood, 2017-08-09 Valuing People in Construction provides contemporary perspectives on the glue that binds the construction process together people The book addresses people issues in the construction industry where behavioural outcomes impact upon business and project performance The main proposition of the book is that as people continue to lead the completion of construction activities their health safety and well being should be seen as a priority and valued by stakeholders As employers and employees the role of people in construction must be to strive for the improvement of individual lives and society This edited collection which is the first book to focus specifically on placing value on people in construction focuses on people at work gender at work conditions at work and respect at work In addition to an editorial overview the book presents tested and refined empirical work and case studies by leading construction researchers from
