Private Finance Initiative Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee, 2011-08-19 The Treasury Committee concludes that Private Finance Initiative PFI funding for new infrastructure such as schools and hospitals does not provide taxpayers with good value for money and stricter criteria should be introduced to govern its use Higher borrowing costs since the credit crisis mean that PFI is now an extremely inefficient method of financing projects Poor investment decisions may continue to be encouraged across the public sector however because PFI allows Government departments and public bodies to make big capital investments without committing large sums up front There is no convincing evidence that savings and efficiencies during the lifetime of PFI projects offset the higher cost of finance The current Value for Money appraisal system may be biased to favour PFIs and there are problems with the way costs and benefits for such projects are currently calculated Investment could be increased in the long run if government capital investment were used instead of PFI Paying off a PFI debt of 1bn may cost taxpayers the same as paying off a direct government debt of 1.7bn Recommendations include the Treasury should consider scoring most PFIs in departmental budgets in the same way as direct capital expenditure the Treasury should discuss with the OBR the treatment of PFI to ensure that PFI cannot be used to game the fiscal rules the Value for Money assessment process should be subjected to scrutiny by the NAO the Treasury should review the way in which risk transfer is identified Commanders Call ,1985 Methods of Research Mr. Rohit Manglik,2024-03-05 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels Military Review ,1999
