Imperial Debris Ann Laura Stoler, 2013-05-10 Imperial Debris redirects critical focus from ruins as evidence of the past to ruination as the processes through which imperial power occupies the present Ann Laura Stoler's introduction is a manifesto a compelling call for postcolonial studies to expand its analytical scope to address the toxic but less perceptible corrosions and violent accruals of colonial aftermaths as well as their durable traces on the material environment and people's bodies and minds In their provocative tightly focused responses to Stoler the contributors explore subjects as seemingly diverse as villages submerged during the building of a massive dam in southern India Palestinian children taught to envision and document ancestral homes razed by the Israeli military and survival on the toxic edges of oil refineries and amid the remains of apartheid in Durban South Africa They consider the significance of Cold War imagery of a United States decimated by nuclear blast perceptions of a swath of Argentina's Gran Chaco as a barbarous void and the enduring resonance in contemporary sexual violence of atrocities in King Leopold's Congo Reflecting on the physical destruction of Sri Lanka on Detroit as a colonial metropole in relation to sites of ruination in the Amazon and on interactions near a UNESCO World Heritage Site in the Brazilian state of Bahia the contributors attend to present day harms in the occluded unexpected sites and situations where earlier imperial formations persist Contributors Ariella Azoulay John F Collins Sharad Chari E Valentine Daniel Gastón Gordillo Greg Grandin Nancy Rose Hunt Joseph Masco Vyjayanthi Venuturupalli Rao Ann Laura Stoler

Climate Resilient Water Resources Management Robert C. Brears, 2018-05-23 The effects of climate change are beginning to impact water quantity and water quality across the globe However there is no single action or strategy that any government can implement to ensure a community is resilient to climate change related extreme weather events while also protecting the natural system Instead Robert Brears argues climate resilient water resources management requires integrated forward thinking policies that are not only adaptable to changing climatic conditions but also seek to maximise economic and social welfare in an equitable manner while ensuring the continued health of their ecosystems This book addresses how several levels of government in different geographical locations with varying climates incomes and lifestyles have implemented a variety of policies and technologies to ensure communities are resilient to climatic risks and how these policies preserve and enhance the natural system and its associated ecosystem's health

The Language Issue in the Teaching of Mathematics in South Africa Lindiwe Tshuma, 2021-01-26 The book is the result of a five year project that culminated within the first three years in doctoral research interrogating language competency for meaningful mathematics instruction at upper primary level conducted at University of Stellenbosch in 2017 and this book in the succeeding two years

The initial research project received countrywide coverage in several South African media outlets including Times Live and Radio 2000

The Eastern Fleet and the Indian Ocean, 1942-1944 Charles Stephenson, 2022-04-06 A study of the British Royal Navy's activities in the Indian Ocean during World War II led by Admiral Sir James Somerville. The story of the British Eastern Fleet which operated in the Indian Ocean against Japan has rarely been told. Although it was the largest fleet deployed by the Royal Navy prior to 1945 and played a vital part in the theatre, it has no place in the popular consciousness of the naval history of the Second World War. So Charles Stephenson's deeply researched and absorbing narrative gives this forgotten fleet the recognition it deserves. British pre-war naval planning for the Far East is part of the story as is the disastrous loss of the battleship Prince of Wales and battlecruiser Repulse in 1941, but the body of the book focuses on the new fleet commanded by Admiral Sir James Somerville and its operations against the Japanese navy and aircraft as well as Japanese and German submarines. Later in the war, once the fleet had been reinforced with an American aircraft carrier, it was strong enough to take more aggressive actions against the Japanese and these are described in vivid detail. Charles Stephenson's authoritative study should appeal to readers who have a special interest in the war with Japan in naval history more generally and Royal Navy in particular. Praise for The Eastern Fleet and the Indian Ocean 1942-1944 This meticulously researched, outstandingly clear, well-written and absorbing account is long overdue and will most likely become a standard work. The text is most helpfully supported by over 80 pages of detailed end notes referenced to each chapter and a detailed index. This is not only a book for naval historians but also for anyone with an interest in the War in the Indian Ocean region. Highly recommended. Military Historical Society. I enjoyed this book; it gives us an account of an often neglected part of the war at sea and of the achievements of Admiral Somerville who kept his fleet intact in the face of a potentially overwhelming opponent. Then he was willing to acknowledge that his fleet needed to improve massively before it could take on the Japanese. Dr John Rickard, author and webmaster of the Military History Encyclopedia on the Web

The Objects of Evidence Matthew Engelke, 2009-03-30 Part of The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute Special Issue Book Series, the contributors to this volume share the conviction that anthropology can no longer afford to ignore the importance of the concept of evidence, either for the ways in which anthropologists carry out their work, methodology or present and justify their findings, epistemology. Demonstrates that evidence is something that all anthropologists must possess. Shows how the collection of evidence in the field is still, without doubt, one of the main ingredients of what Bronislaw Malinowski once referred to as the ethnographer's magic. Reveals how the concept of evidence has received little sustained attention in print, especially when compared to related concepts such as fieldwork, truth, facts and knowledge. Argued from a variety of theoretical perspectives and a rarity in its ability to orchestrate some many different and vibrant paradigms and points of view

Human Rights, Power and Civic Action Bård A. Andreassen, Gordon Crawford, 2013-07-18 Human Rights Power and Civic Action examines the interrelationship between struggles for human rights and the dynamics of power.

focusing on situations of poverty and oppression in developing countries It is argued that the concept of power is a relatively neglected one in the study of rights based approaches to development especially the ways in which structures and relations of power can limit human rights advocacy Therefore this book focuses on how local and national struggles for rights have been constrained by power relations and structural inequalities as well as the extent to which civic action has been able to challenge alter or transform such power structures and simultaneously to enhance protection of people s basic human rights Contributors examine and compare struggles to advance human rights by non governmental actors in Cambodia China Ghana Kenya South Africa and Zimbabwe The country case studies analyse structures of power responsible for the negation and denial of human rights as well as how rights promoting organisations challenge such structures Utilising a comparative approach the book provides empirically grounded studies leading to new theoretical understanding of the interrelationships between human rights struggles power and poverty reduction Human Rights Power and Civic Action will be of interest to students and scholars of human rights politics power development and governance      Race Trouble Kevin

Durrheim,Xoliswa Mtose,Lyndsay Brown,2011-01-01 This book draws on the South African experience to develop a theory of race trouble with the central observation that transformation in South Africa has reshaped patterns and practices of encounter and exchange between historically defined race groups Race continues to feature prominently in these new forms of social interaction and by participating in them South Africans are cast once again as racial subjects advantaged or disadvantaged included or excluded colonizers or colonized      Freshwater Governance for the 21st Century Eiman

Karar,2016-10-24 The objective of this book is to broadly illustrate the key aspects of water governance mapping the spectrum of decision making from techno centric and eco centric approaches to hybrid concepts and people centric approaches Topics covered include the challenges for water governance models the polycentric model the integration challenge water in the decision making hierarchy and the rise of water sensitive design while also taking into account interdependencies between stakeholders as well as the issue of scale The book s content is presented in an integrated and comprehensive format building on detailed case studies from around the world and the authors working experiences in the water sector Combining essential insights with accessible non technical language it offers a valuable resource for academics technicians and policy makers alike      Socio-Economic Rights in South Africa Malcolm Langford,Ben Cousins,Jackie

Dugard,Tshepo Madlingozi,2014 This book sets out to assess the role and impact of socio economic strategies used by civil society actors in South Africa Focusing on a range of socio economic rights and national trends in law and political economy the book s authors show how socio economic rights have influenced the development of civil society discourse and action

Race for Education Mark Hunter,2019-01-24 An examination of families and schools in South Africa revealing how the marketisation of schooling works to uphold the privilege of whiteness      Refusal, Transition and Post-apartheid Law

Karin Van Marle,2009-11-01 Refusal Transition and Post apartheid Law under editorship of professor Karin van Marle is indeed long overdue As some of the authors in the relevant contributions to this publication rightly point out Van Marle's call for a jurisprudence of generosity enabled through an ethics of refusal signals a new shift in South African jurisprudence Through the lens of Van Marle's ethics of refusal and her jurisprudence of generosity the articles present fresh and meaningful interpretations in respect of a range of very relevant topics ranging from property theory and a rethinking of human rights to the role of forgiveness and the dangers inherent in modern technology People Power in an Era of Global Crisis Barry K. Gills, Kevin Gray, 2013-10-31 A quarter of a century has now passed since the historic popular uprising that led to the overthrow of the Ferdinand Marcos dictatorship in the Philippines The mass movement known as the People Power Revolution was not only pivotal to the democratic transition within the Philippines but it also became an inspiration for subsequent mass movements leading to further democratic transitions throughout the Third World and in the former Communist bloc in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union However the neoliberal economic policies subsequently pursued by newly democratic governments throughout the Third World led all but the most celebratory observers to note the constrained and limited nature of these formal political transitions This volume poses the question of the extent to which people power has been able to play an active role resisting neoliberalism and deepen substantive democracy and social justice Through a series of case studies of the regions and individual countries of Asia Africa Latin America and Eastern Europe the contributions in the volume provide a new set of original and in depth critical assessments of the nature of the longer term impact of the democratic transitions commencing in the 1980s and continuing until the present and questioning their impact and potential influence on human dignity freedom justice and self determination and thus opening new avenues of enquiry into the future of democracy This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly University Pathway Programs: Local Responses within a Growing Global Trend Cintia Inés Agosti, Eva Bernat, 2018-06-14 This volume is the first to compile the insights of experienced and informed education researchers and practitioners involved in the delivery of university pathway programs These programs have emerged as effective responses to global national and local students' needs when transitioning to Higher Education The book opens with an overview of the main drivers for the development of university pathway programs and a description of the main characteristics of such programs as well as of the different types of programs available It examines topics such as the way in which policy and governance issues at the institutional state and federal level affect university pathway programs financial models compliance and quality assurance mechanisms as well as program provision It also looks at how to address issues related to non traditional background students such as those from lower socioeconomic background students for whom English is an additional language EAL indigenous students mature age students and humanitarian entrants The volume showcases thirteen university pathway programs offered in Australia Canada New Zealand South Africa Qatar and the United Kingdom These examples provide valuable insights that will help guide future practice in the field as the programs described effectively foster and support the development of students' academic literacies study skills and awareness of the socio cultural norms that are necessary to participate successfully in higher education settings In reporting the strategies to overcome challenges in the areas of curriculum development and implementation of equity inclusion and participation of cross sector collaboration and of student welfare the volume promotes reflection on these issues and therefore better equips those education practitioners embarking on the university pathway program journey
