Mutikainen, 2001-11-30 The lack of discussion of the life histories of modular organisms is the weakness of this book that I most regret Modular organisms are different S C Stearns The Evolution of Life Histories 1992 Life history theory endeavours to increase our understanding of the processes whereby the broad features of the life cycles of organisms such as the timing and magnitude of reproduction have evolved Although reproductive traits have dominated as study objects due to their immediate importance for evolutionary success much work has also been conducted on patterns of development growth and senescence as well as on the shifts in resource allocation related to these processes The basic axiom of life history theory is that patterns of life histories such as reproductive traits are subject to evolutionary explanation This idea can be traced back at least as far as Darwin's Origin of Species 1859 In his discussion of plant domestication Darwin wrote I cannot doubt that the continued selection of slight variations either in the leaves the flowers or the fruit will produce races differing from each other chiefly in these characters Darwin was impressed by the success of plant breeders in moulding the growth and reproductive parameters of cultivated plants and believed that natural selection could have a similar impact in natural populations Plants in Science Fiction Katherine E. "One Rotten Apple Spoils the Whole Barrel": The Plant Hormone Ethylene, the Small Molecule and its Complexity Domenico De Martinis, Tomotsugu Koyama, Caren Chang, 2015-08-14 The gaseous molecule ethylene C_2H_4 which is small in size and simple in structure is a plant hormone most often associated with fruit ripening yet has a diversity of effects throughout the plant life cycle While its agricultural effects were known even in ancient Egypt the complexity of its mode of action and the broad spectrum of its effects and potential uses in plant physiology remain important scientific challenges today In the last few decades the biochemical pathway of ethylene production has been uncovered ethylene perception and signaling have been molecularly dissected ethylene responsive transcription factors have been identified and numerous effects of ethylene have been described ranging from water stress development senescence reproduction plant pathogen interactions and of course ripening Thus ethylene is involved in plant development in biotic and abiotic stress and in reproduction There is no stage in plant life that is not affected by ethylene modulated by a complex and fascinating molecular machinery
