Questions to answer while reading To Kill a Mockingbird

For the following questions, please answer in complete sentences when the answer requires more than a name or word for an answer.

1. Who is telling the story? Jean Louise (Scout) Finch
2. What happened when Arthur Radley was a teen? When Arthur (Boo) Radley was a teen, he was hanging out with the wrong crowd. He got in trouble with the law for disturbing the town with his "gang" of friends. After, he didn't leave the house, most likely because his father made him stay home.
3. What game did Jem, Scout and Dill enjoy playing, but which they hid from their father? Jem, Scout, and Dill enjoyed acting out plays of books or stories that they knew. Their father, Atticus, didn't approve of them acting out the lives of the Radleys, so they hid it from him.
4. Why didn't Atticus turn down the assignment to defend Tom? Atticus didn't turn down the assignment because he wasn't going to do less than his best. He accepted the difficult and threatening challenge of defending Tom in the court case because he wanted to maintain his self-respect and be able to hold his head up high. It was a matter of his personal honor, and he wasn't going to give that up to appease the popular crowd.
5. Who was Boo Radley? Boo Radley was the Finch's reclusive neighbor. The three children were afraid of him because he seemed creepy and there were rumors of him eating small animals. Really, he is a talented, innocent man who was emotionally damaged because of his father and society. Jem and Scout eventually understood him better. After realizing how cruel the world is, Jem seemed to understand why Boo didn't want to be a part of it, and Scout saw things from Boo's perspective after he saved her and Jem from Mr. Ewell.
6. Why did Scout say at the end of the book that to force Boo Radley into the public eye would be like killing a mockingbird? She had given meaning to what her father had said earlier in the book. She understood that putting trouble on people, who don't deserve it, would be like killing an innocent, harmless bird. Forcing Boo Radley into the public eye, when he clearly had been avoiding it, would be a punishment he didn't deserve.
7. Why was Tom arrested? Tom was arrested because he was accused of raping a white girl, Mayella Ewell. In reality, he had rejected the advances of Mayella, and her and Mr. Ewell falsely accused him of hurting her.
8. When the men came to the jailhouse and found Atticus sitting under the light, what had they been planning to do? The mob of men had planned to take what they believed to be justice into their own hands, by whatever means necessary. They wanted to kill Tom Robinson, and they would have injured or even killed Atticus, who was protecting Tom, to do so.
9. Why didn't they? The mob was approaching Atticus, and Scout intervened. She spoke to one of the men, whom she recognized as Mr. Cunningham. She reminded him of the times her father had helped him, and told him that she knew his son, Walter. Mr. Cunningham called dispelled the group, and no one was hurt.
