Second Semester Intake At Limpopo University:

Social Work in Social Change Nicci Earle, 2008 This study forms part of a series of studies on professions and professional education being conducted by the HSRC's research programme on Education Science Skills Development. It follows a pilot study on medical doctors published in 2006 entitled Doctors in a Divided Society. The profession and education of medical practitioners in South Africa. Like the other studies in the series, this study involved developing an understanding of the professional milieu and professional labour market of social workers. As the implementers of government social policy, social work professionals have been at the forefront of grappling with the practicalities of the changes in focus, approach and methods of social security and social service delivery since 1994. It examines developments in the education and training of social workers within the democratic dispensation, the most significant of which is the development of a national standardised Bachelor of Social Work degree. The study also reveals that the dominant profile in student enrolment and graduation statistics has changed from white female to African female and that enrolment has increased significantly. However, the study also shows that graduation trends have been negative and losses due to emigration are an additional concern. Given the scarcity of these professionals against the demand for their services, understanding the factors that contribute to this picture are critical to effective intervention.

Limpopo Life Anneli Ekblom, Michel Notelid, 2025-06-20 Limpopo Life introduces the reader to the material culture, oral histories and the negotiation of conservation and landscape in an area now known as Limpopo National Park. Introducing the archaeology of a region that has not been surveyed or discussed, this book connects to the archaeology, history, heritage and conservation discussions in the southern African region as a whole. Vegetation history and paleoecology are combined with archaeological surveys and excavations, written sources, oral histories and travelogues to draw a picture of the diverse landscape of the Limpopo region. Intermixed within this narrative are sections that focus on an individual species, a life history or an event, providing a view of the complex and dynamic interactions. The role of humans in this diverse environment and how they have co-evolved with other species, shaping each other's destinies in a consequential and accidental way, is outlined. This book will be of interest to researchers and students interested in the archaeology, heritage and conservation of Mozambique, Zimbabwe and northern South Africa. It will also be of relevance to readers interested in the social history of the Limpopo and Kruger National Parks and this cross-border area.

The Origin and Growth of Geography as a discipline at South African Universities Gustav Visser, 2016-09-20 The publication provides the first comprehensive text that reflects on a century of the development of geography as an academic discipline at South African universities. The book showcases a broad and textured review of South Africa's geography departments, their staff members, their times and the different Geographies they engaged in. The book lays the foundation from which more expansive individual departmental histories can be written in the future.

Albert Weideman,John Read,Theo du Plessis,2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

The African Food Environments Amos Laar,Kaleab Baye,Anna Lartey,Francis Zotor,Gershim Asiki,2023-09-05 In many respects the continent of Africa is in transition Prominent among them currently is the nutrition transition One consequence of the nutrition transition is the increase in prevalence of nutrition related non communicable diseases NCDs such as obesity type 2 diabetes cardiovascular diseases and certain cancers Although NCDs are a global public health problem the rate of increase in NCDs morbidity and mortality in some African countries is staggering This surge has been linked to modifiable environmental factors factors that facilitate the consumption of obesogenic energy dense nutrient poor foods rather than unrefined cereals fruits and vegetables It has long been recognized that the physical and social environments in which people live work and eat are critical determinants of their health More recently there has been a greater focus on the food environment as a key determinant of health Available evidence shows that unhealthy food environments drive unhealthy diets and unhealthy diet is one of four main risk factors for NCDs Teaching Sustainability Wendy Petersen Boring, William Forbes, William Forbes (Professor of geography), 2013 American colleges and universities have been relatively quick to address the challenge of sustainability in operations Ironically they have been slower to respond in regard to their core mission educating students Teaching sustainability aims to redress this shortcoming by opening doors to education for sustainability in the humanities and social sciences The essays in this collection are richly diverse They investigate ways sustainability education pushes back against traditional disciplines while it simultaneously benefits from the perspectives and skills these fields have to offer They also address big questions such as how to make education meaningful how to examine hidden assumptions underlying current curricula and how a focus on sustainability can answer critics of contemporary higher education The heart of teaching sustainability is reflection and advice on pedagogy From these richly diverse case studies important common themes emerge the symbiotic relationship between classroom and campus operations techniques for transforming the campus itself from merely a setting to a learning laboratory and the potential of community partners for teaching sense of place An equally significant theme is the overlap between sustainability education and emerging best practice in pedagogy Essays on theory and practice individual and collaborative projects service learning and consequential activities all exemplify how sustainability and deep learning go hand and hand Like sustainability itself the volume infuses theory with practical application The contributors demonstrate the ways in which a single course can serve as a powerful change agent for an entire campus how to build bridges between faculty and administrators and even how to move forward on modest budgets The authors themselves constitute a network of advisors Publisher's description South African Journal of Science ,2008 Whites and Democracy in South Africa Roger Southall, 2022 Introduction PART ONE FROM SETTLERS TO DEMOCRACY 1 The Politics of White Rule 2 Putting the Liberal into Democracy 3 Securing the Transition Whites and the TRC 4 Looking Back Whites and the TRC Today PART TWO WHITES AS DEMOCRATS 5 White Hopes Fears and Fate after 1994 6 Disillusion and Dystopia 7 Staying Put and Getting on with Life 8 Political Liberalism after Apartheid The Democratic Alliance 9 Afrikaner Politics after Apartheid 10 Whites as Citizens PART THREE CONCLUSION BEYOND RACE 11 Is there White in the Rainbow Nutrition Abstracts and Reviews ,2006 Hunger and Poverty in South Africa Jacqueline Hanoman, 2017-09-01 Hunger and Poverty in South Africa The Hidden Faces of Food Insecurity explores food insecurity as an issue of socioeconomic political cultural and environmental inequity and inequality Based on extensive original research in Free State Province South Africa the book explores how people living in poverty make meaning of their food circumstances within the socio cultural political and economic contexts of post apartheid South Africa how they view the government's food security policies and programs and their perceived agency to affect change The personal narratives contained in the book show that food insecurity is shaped by many issues among which are structural poverty racism attempts or non attempts at reconciliation during and after apartheid public health issues such as HIV AIDS and environmental circumstances At a time when most discourse around food insecurity focuses on how to provide more food to people facing hunger this book s multidimensional approach is a valuable contribution to the contemporary dialogue on poverty food security insecurity sustainability and democratic agency both within South Africa and around the world This book will be of interest to researchers in the areas of food security multidimensional poverty democratic agency and sustainable development both in South Africa and internationally

The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature Lokangaka Losambe,Tanure Ojaide,2024-05-16 The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature introduces world literature readers to the transnational multivocal writings of immigrant African authors Covering works produced in Europe North America and elsewhere in the world this book investigates three major aesthetic paradigms in African diasporic literature the Sankofan wave late 1960s early 1990s the Janusian wave 1990s 2020s and the Offshoots of the New Arrivants those born and growing up outside Africa Written by well established and emerging scholars of African and diasporic literatures from across the world the chapters in the book cover the works of well known and not so well known Anglophone Francophone and Lusophone writers from different theoretical positionalities and critical approaches pointing out the unique innovative artistic qualities of this major subgenre of African literature The focus on the diasporic consciousness of the writers and their works sets this handbook apart from others that solely emphasize migration which is more of a process than the community of settled African people involved in the dynamic acts of living reflected in diasporic writings This book will appeal to researchers and students from across the fields of Literature Diaspora Studies African Studies Migration Studies and Postcolonial Studies
