Design Discourse David Franke, Alex Reid, 2010-10-06 Design

Discourse Composing and Revising Programs in Professional and Technical Writing addresses the complexities of developing professional and technical writing programs The essays in the collection offer reflections on efforts to bridge two cultures what the editors characterize as the art and science of writing often by addressing explicitly the tensions between them Design Discourse offers insights into the high stakes decisions made by program designers as they seek to function at the intersection of the practical and the abstract the human and the technical

Qualitative Research in Technical Communication James Conklin, George F. Hayhoe, 2010-10-27 This volume brings together a representative sample from the growing body of work in qualitative research in technical communication Including examples of qualitative methodologies including ethnography case study focus groups action research grounded theory and interview research used by technical communicators to strengthen their practice the result is a rich harmony of perspectives as diverse as the field of technical communication itself

Exploding Technical Communication Remley Dirk, Charles Sides, 2020-04-29 Within the framework of New Literacy Studies Dirk Remley presents a historical study of how technical communication practices at a World War II arsenal sponsored literacy within the community in which it operated from 1940 to 1960 and contemporary implications of similar forms of sponsorship The Training within Industry TWI methods developed by the U S government and industry at that time included multimodal literate practices particularly combinations of visual oral experiential and print linguistic text Analyses reveal a hierarchy in which print linguistic literacies were generally esteemed at the workplace and in the community This literacy hierarchy contributed to a catastrophic accident that killed 11 people prompting changes in the approach to designing certain training documents This book links technical communication especially the multimodal forms of representation commonly found in technical communication and instructional materials to the concept of literacy sponsorship The TWI methods used in training and system improvement during World War II are currently applied in business and industry as part of the lean operating and continuous improvement philosophies These methods have also become part of the experiential learning philosophy favored in academia Remley includes examples of current applications of multimodal forms of technical communication similar to those used at the arsenal as well as new media related applications related to training and instruction He also discusses their implications for literacy sponsorship This book provides useful information for technical communication and literacy scholars and educators as well as practical case studies for business leaders consultants and practitioners Intended Audience Scholars in technical communication and literacy writing studies scholars in business especially management and organizational analysis and business communication consultants scholars in history and sociology      Service-Learning and Writing: Paving the Way for Literacy(ies) through Community Engagement Isabel Baca, 2012-11-20 Service learning and Writing Paving the Way for Literacy(ies) through Community Engagement discusses service learning as a teaching and learning method and its integration with writing The various authors from different disciplines and institutions present service learning as a means of having students practice writing in real world settings and they show how relationship building and partnerships between higher education and diverse communities produce benefits for all involved the students faculty administrators and the communities themselves This volume demonstrates how writing instruction and or writing practice can complement community engagement and outreach at local national and international contexts Through different cross cultural contexts and academic disciplines the various authors explore reflection assessment internalization diversity and multiple literacies and their importance when integrating service learning in higher education and community literacy      Technical Communication 9e With 2009 Mla and 2010 Apa Updates + IX Visual Exercises for Technical Communication Mike Markel, Cheryl E. Ball, Kristin L. Arola, 2010-06-30      The Cumulative Book Index, 1998 A world list of books in the English language      How the Brain Processes Multimodal Technical Instructions Dirk Remley, 2016-12-05 While Aristotle acknowledges the connection between rhetoric biology and cognitive abilities scholarship continues to struggle to integrate the fields of rhetoric and neurobiology Drawing on recent work in neuro rhetoric this book offers a model that integrates multimodal rhetorical theory and multisensory neural processing theory pertaining to cognition and learning Using existing theories from multimodal rhetoric and specific findings from neurobiological studies the author develops a model that integrates concepts from both fields bridging if not uniting them He also discusses possible applications of the new model with specific case studies related to training and instruction These applications include various media used in instructional and training contexts such as print slide shows videos simulations and hands on training The book thus introduces concepts of cognitive neuroscience to multimodal rhetorical theory and facilitates theorization combining multimodal rhetoric and multisensory cognition and serves as a vehicle by which readers can better understand the links between multimodal rhetoric and cognitive neuroscience associated with technical communication Integrating case studies from industry and practice the text makes explicit connections between academic scholarship and workplace preparation It also describes how interdisciplinary research can contribute to pharmaceutical research as well as the development of productive instructional materials Rhetoric is affected by how the brain of any member of a given audience can process information This book can promote further research qualitative and quantitative to develop a better understanding of the relationship between multimodal messages and how the brain processes such information      The Executive Guide to E-mail Correspondence Dawn-Michelle Baude, 2006-11-15 Make your messages shorter simpler and more effective with this guide to writing e mails that get read and get results As we correspond with everyone from international partners to remote workers writing skills are more

Refiguring Prose Style T.R. Johnson,Tom Pace,2005-10-30 For about two decades say Johnson and Pace the discussion of how to address prose style in teaching college writing has been stuck with style standing in as a proxy for other stakes in the theory wars The traditional argument is evidently still quite persuasive to some that teaching style is mostly a matter of teaching generic conventions through repetition and practice Such a position usually presumes the traditional view of composition as essentially a service course one without content of its own On the other side the shortcomings of this argument have been much discussed that it neglects invention revision context meaning even truth that it is not congruent with research that it ignores 100 years of scholarship establishing composition s intellectual territory beyond service The discussion is stuck there and all sides have been giving it a rest in recent scholarship Yet style remains of vital practical interest to the field because everyone has to teach it one way or another A consequence of the impasse is that a theory of style itself has not been well articulated Johnson and Pace suggest that moving the field toward a better consensus will require establishing style as a clearer subject of inquiry Accordingly this collection takes up a comprehensive study of the subject Part I explores the recent history of composition studies the ways it has figured and all but effaced the whole question of prose style Part II takes to heart Elbow s suggestion that composition and literature particularly as conceptualized in the context of creative writing courses have something to learn from each other Part III sketches practical classroom procedures for heightening students abilities to engage style and part IV explores new theoretical frameworks for defining this vital and much neglected territory The hope of the essays here focusing as they do on historical aesthetic practical and theoretical issues is to awaken composition studies to the possibilities of style and in turn to rejuvenate a great many classrooms

Designing Web-Based Applications for 21st Century Writing Classrooms George Pullman, Gu Baotong, 2016-12-05 Designing Web Based Applications for 21st Century Writing Classrooms brings together for the first time a group of scholars and teachers who have been developing on their own initiative web based solutions to technical and professional writing instructional problems In industry the perennial question is whether to buy or build but in academia for various reasons buy is rarely an option Individual faculty members do not have the money to pay for software solutions and often their interests are too local or small scale to warrant institutional level involvement In addition the design of commercial applications from vendors typically does not take into account the unique needs and considerations of teachers of writing and often reflects a design ideology quite different from theirs This is why so many writing teachers have turned to open source solutions and in the process of learning how to tweak them to make them more responsive to their specific needs why so many of these teachers have developed programming and design skills Beyond exigency the motivation for becoming proficient at interface and database design comes from the observation that the nature of writing is changing dramatically Text is no longer an object It has become a place of interaction consumers are becoming producers And the work of technical and professional communication indeed the work of writing teachers more generally is becoming increasingly involved in the design and implementation of places of interaction Words have become data texts are becoming communities      Technical Communication Essentials Michael H. Markel,1996      Cross-cultural Communication Thomas Warren,2017-03-02 Cross Cultural Communication is a collection of essays that examines how practitioners can improve the acceptance of their documentation when communicating to cultures other than their own The essays begin by examining the cross cultural issues relating to quality in documentation From there the essays look at examples of common documents analysing them from several perspectives Specifically the author uses communication theories such as Bernstein s Elaborated and Restricted Code theory and Marwell and Schmidt s Compliance Gaining theory to show how documents used by readers who are not native speakers of English can be written and organized to increase their effectiveness The principal assumption about how practitioners create their documents is that while large organizations can afford to write translate and then localize small to medium size organizations produce many documents that are used directly by people in other cultures often without translating and localizing The advantage the writer gains from these essays is in understanding the strategies and knowing the kinds of strategies to apply in specific situations In addition the essays can serve as a valuable resource for students and teachers alike as they determine ways to understand how cross cultural communication is different and why it makes a difference Not only do students need to be aware of the various strategies they may apply when creating documents for cross cultural settings they also need to see how research can apply theories from different areas in the case of these essays communication and rhetorical theories Another value of the essays is to show the students the role standards play in cross cultural communication standards are written by committees that follow style rules developed by the International Standardization Organization in Geneva Thus both students and practitioners can find valuable cross cultural communication advice in these essays      05-07-2019,interdisciplinary      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2000
