English Congratulations on the purchase of your TechnoMarine watch and thank you for your trust. This timepiece was created to the highest standards of watchmaking with a 200M (200m) water resistance*. Please carefully review the information below.

GENERAL INFORMATION

200M water resistance is guaranteed only when the crown is screwed in properly.

It is better not to use the functions and settings of your watch when it is wet and never while it is immersed in water.

It is recommended to rinse your watch with clean water after contact with salt water and/or perspiration.

A well sealed watch will transmit your body warmth to the air inside your watch, therefore if suddenly plunged into cold water, the sudden cooling on the outside of the watch can cause condensation, usually in the form of a mist of small droplets under the glass. This will normally evaporate after some time of wearing.
