With Reading the Obscene Jordan Carroll reveals new insights about the editors who fought the most famous anti censorship battles of the twentieth century While many critics have interpreted obscenity as a form of populist protest Reading the Obscene shows that the editors who worked to dismantle censorship often catered to elite audiences composed primarily of white men in the professional managerial class As Carroll argues transgressive editors such as H L Mencken at the Smart Set and the American Mercury William Gaines and Al Feldstein at EC Comics Hugh Hefner at Playboy Lawrence Ferlinghetti at City Lights Books and Barney Rosset at Grove Press taught their readers to approach even the most scandalizing texts with the same cold calculation and professional reserve they employed in their occupations Along the way these editors kicked off a middle class sexual revolution in which white collar professionals imagined they could control sexuality through management science Obscenity is often presented as self shattering and subversive but with this provocative work Carroll calls into question some of the most sensational claims about obscenity suggesting that when transgression becomes a sign of class distinction we must abandon the idea that obscenity always overturns hierarchies and disrupts social order Winner of the 2022 MLA Prize for Independent Scholars sponsored by the Modern Language Association House of Commons -

Science and Technology Committee: Clinical Trials - HC 104 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,2013-09-17 Many of the trials taking place today are unregistered and unpublished meaning that the information that they generate remains invisible to both the scientific community and the public This undermines public trust slowing the pace of medical advancement and potentially putting patients at risk All trials conducted on NHS treatments and all other trials receiving public funding should be prospectively registered and their results published in a scientific journal While the focus should be on implementing this change for future trials the Government must also do what it can to ensure that historic trials are registered and published particularly where they have been publically funded The Government should also take steps to facilitate greater sharing of the raw data generated during a trial in a responsible and controlled way with the knowledge and consent of patients The report also draws attention to the recent fall in the number of trials taking place in the UK It finds that the need for multiple governance approvals from participating NHS organisations remained the biggest barrier to setting up a UK trial but that lack of public awareness was also a key issue Recruiting participants can also be a challenge The report calls on the Government to take its recommendations into account in ongoing discussions regarding the revision of European clinical trials legislation and in its response to the European Medicines Agency s consultation on the release of clinical trial data which closes at the end of this month
