Panoramas and Compilations in Nineteenth-Century Britain Helen Kingstone, 2023-01-06 This book shows how in nineteenth century Britain confronted with the newly industrialized and urbanized modern world writers artists journalists and impresarios tried to gain an overview of contemporary history They drew on two successive but competing conceptual models of overview the panorama and the compilation Both models claimed to offer a holistic picture of the present moment but took very different approaches This book shows that panoramas 360 views previously associated with the Romantic period and compilations big data projects previously associated with the Victorian fin de siècle are intertwined relevant across the entire century and often remediated making them crucial lenses through which to view a broad range of genre and forms It brings together interdisciplinary research materials belonging to different period silos to create new understandings of how nineteenth century audiences dealt with information overload It argues for a new politics of distance one that recognizes the value of immersing oneself in a situation event or phenomenon but which also does not chastise us for trying to see the big picture This book is essential reading for students and scholars of nineteenth century literature history visual culture and information studies

News Photographer, 2003

Writing with Light Mick Gidley, 2010 Contributor Martin Padgett's essay Native Americans the Photobook and the Southwest Ansel Adams and Mary Austin's Taos Pueblo was awarded the 2010 Arthur Miller Essay Prize This book offers a collection of essays on the interface between literature and photography as exemplified in important North American texts

Victorian Photography and Literary Nostalgia Helen Groth, 2003 This study looks back to the early days of photography when writers publishers and photographers were only beginning to consider the impact of this new way of seeing on their work and lives Helen Groth demonstrates that rather than being extraneous to the ongoing concerns of writing Victorian literary history the early history of photography constitutes a rich part of the cultural history of the mediation and reception of literary texts in the nineteenth century
