

The background of the cover features a romantic couple in a close embrace, nearly kissing. The woman has dark, curly hair and is wearing a light-colored top. The man has a beard and is wearing a dark shirt. They are positioned in the upper half of the frame. Below them is a vast, green vineyard with rows of grapevines stretching towards the horizon. The sky is a warm, golden yellow, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The title 'Verde Bianco Rosso' is written in a large, elegant, black script font, with 'Verde' on the first line, 'Bianco' on the second, and 'Rosso' on the third. Below the title, the words 'Italian Knights Series' are written in a smaller, italicized, black serif font.

Verde Bianco Rosso Billy London, 2019-03-13 Widow Sister Mother All those labels hung from Emmanuella Harrison like the A of shame After so many years of playing it straight she'd forgotten who the real Ella was Sometimes whenever she managed to make the severe Durante Da Canaveze smile the sparkle of the woman she'd been a long time ago ignited in her But the Mother label needed to be first and foremost No messing around with sexy farmers Farmers Just farmers None of that All right maybe a little bit of messing around The tip doesn't count The moment Ella drifted into Tuscany Durante started to doubt the wisdom of his years of self-imposed solitude With every teasing grin backless dress and playful conversation he fell more and more deeply under her spell As dazzled as he is by her Durante is convinced his history is enough to not deserve anyone let alone someone like Ella And yet without the labels without the barriers without being afraid of what may be no two people will ever be as perfect for each other The penultimate story in the Italian Knights Series is all about blunt children loud mouthed opinionated family members redemption in farming olives and how love can make one forgive even the most off key of voices Grazia Deledda's Painterly Aesthetic Angela Guiso, Virginia A.

Picchiotti, 2025-03-15 Central to Grazia Deledda's narrative worlds are the relationships between her characters and the vast landscapes in which they move and act The writer translates and represents her characters her characters emotions and her natural and urban landscapes with a vocabulary that is often related to the visual arts However although her descriptions contain the gradations of Modernist painting beginning with Impressionism no book length study and with diverse perspectives has thus far investigated Deledda's relationship with the visual arts and the resulting painterly aesthetic of her multicolored narratives In this sense Grazia Deledda's Painterly Aesthetic provides an articulated literary panorama of Deledda's novels and short stories through a discourse that is situated between literature and pictorial art Inspired by these two cardinal points the analyses are undertaken by contributors who have a profound awareness of an epochal change and work in different disciplines One year from the centenary of her receipt of the Nobel Prize the contributors investigate the connections consonances and differences between Grazia Deledda's oeuvre and other works inside this panorama to verify a possible unity of purpose At the same time they seek to ascertain whether these connections can corroborate and exalt the choices that the Sardinian writer made to free herself from the constraints of a hostile environment "The English
