Unit 2B – Land-Based Empires

Topic 2.1 – Empires Expand

Explain how and why various land-based empires developed and expanded from 1450 to 1750.

Imperial expansion relied on the increased use of gunpowder, cannons, and armed trade to establish large empires in both hemispheres.

1. The expansion of gunpowder, gunboats, and horses gave Europeans a massive advantage against foreigners.

Empires grew with gunpowder weapon development. They were able to use military force easier and gain more resources. Cannons were also a big development for maritime empires.

Land empires included the Manchus in Central and East Asia; the Mughals in South and Central Asia; the Ottomans in Southern Europe, the Middle East, and North Africa; and the Safavids in the Middle East.

2. Land empires like these enforced their power by conquering and

Empires grew because of technology and new ideas. The expanding of religion through sharing of ideas and culture led to technological advancements. Ships and trading boosted their economy.

Political and religious disputes led to rivalries and conflict between states.

3. While initially tolerated, China and Japan would soon oppose the presence of westerners, their ideas, and their religions. Deeming them barbaric or less individualistic.

China and Japan became intolerant of Muslim and Christian religions. Christians divided into two predominant denominations, and Muslims engaged in conflict over Sunni and Shi'a muslim.

Topic 2.2 – Empires Administered

Explain how rulers used a variety of methods to legitimize and consolidate their power in land-based empires from 1450 to 1750.

Recruitment and use of bureaucratic elites, as well as the development of military professionals, became more common among rulers who wanted to maintain centralized control over their populations and resources.

Many people were taken into the military through bureaucratic systems and were usually slaves or peasants forced to conquer and fight. Those remaining would continue to battle.

Rulers continued to use religious ideas, art, and monumental architecture to legitimize their rule.

5. People like King Louis the 14th used buildings like the palace of Versailles to show power. People also believed in the doctrine of divine kings, which means that kings were sent from God to carry out His wisdom, and if people questioned kings they would be questioning God directly.
