- Enterprise-Wide Deployment Architecture – Oracle/AS ProcessConnect provides a number of new features that improve the products ability to meet the performance, manageability, and scalability requirements of large-scale enterprise environments. Key features include:
 - Hub and Spoke Topology – Oracle/AS ProcessConnect supports a hub and spoke topology. A single hub may support many spokes – applications, B2B providers, and web services. Spokes (Adapters) may optionally run on hardware outside of the application server.
 - Imagery / Consistency – the run-time system provides extended new features to ensure the consistency and imagery of the integration system. A central “Coordinator” orchestrates all integration activity to ensure consistency of business processes and data moving through the system. The “Coordinator” is transactional to ensure the imagery of data and processes.

1.2 Oracle Workflow

Oracle/AS (9.0.4) introduces a number of new Workflow features to provide simplified configuration and management.

Enterprise Manager Integration – In Oracle/AS (9.0.4), the Workflow Manager is integrated with Oracle Enterprise Manager (OEM). The Workflow Manager delivers a “dashboard” style of interface accessible through a URL, allowing system administrators to manage Oracle Workflow from a single console.

The Workflow Manager allows system administrators to monitor Workflow system servers, such as background engines, the Notification Mather, agent listeners, queue propagators, and querying workflow data. Administrators can also monitor work item processing by viewing the distribution of all work items by status and drilling down to additional information. Additionally, they can monitor event message processing for local Business Event Systems agents by viewing the distribution of event messages by status. With this ability to monitor work items and event messages, a system administrator can identify possible bottlenecks easily.

Notification Master – The Notification Master provides the ability to notify individuals and groups electronically. Notifications can be delivered via e-mail. In 9.0.4 the Notification Master has been redesigned with a more wizard based UI, to run as a multi-threaded server application for improved configuration, management and performance.

Master Parameters – The setup of the Notification Master involves configuring system parameters, such as the outbound e-mail agent name, the name of the folder to queue inbound e-mails, the protocol of the inbound e-mail server, the password for the inbound e-mail server, and so on. The configuration parameters are as
