,1987 Napoleon's Buttons Penny Le Couteur, Jay Burreson, 2004-05-24 Napoleon's Buttons is the fascinating account of seventeen groups of molecules that have greatly influenced the course of history. These molecules provided the impetus for early exploration and made possible the voyages of discovery that ensued. The molecules resulted in grand feats of engineering and spurred advances in medicine and law; they determined what we now eat, drink, and wear. A change as small as the position of an atom can lead to enormous alterations in the properties of a substance, which in turn can result in great historical shifts. With lively prose and an eye for colorful and unusual details, Le Couteur and Burreson offer a novel way to understand the shaping of civilization and the workings of our contemporary world. The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature, 1897 The Publishers Weekly, 1921 Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature, 1897 Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1988-08

Today, the ability to forecast weather, climate, and natural hazards depends critically on these satellite-based observations. At the request of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the National Research Council convened a committee to examine the scientific accomplishments that have resulted from space-based observations. This book describes how the ability to view the entire globe at once, uniquely available from satellite observations, has revolutionized Earth studies and ushered in a new era of multidisciplinary Earth sciences. In particular, the ability to gather satellite images frequently enough to create movies of the changing planet is improving the understanding of Earth's dynamic processes and helping society to manage limited resources and environmental challenges The book concludes that continued Earth observations from space will be required to address scientific and societal challenges of the future     The Publisher ,1909     The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record ,1909     A General Catalogue of Books Saint Paul Book and Stationery Company,189?     Journal of the Royal Society of Arts Royal Society of Arts (Great Britain),1908     British Books ,1910     Bibliography of Agriculture ,1984
