Human Migration and Complex Systems Science

Gregorie Dupuis-Mc Donald,2024-09-21 This book provides a novel perspective on human migration dynamics by examining it through the lenses of complex systems science and philosophy of science It posits that human migration is not a simple linear process

but rather a dynamic phenomenon driven by a multitude of causal factors evolving within complex systems This book unravels the conceptual and methodological foundations of a complex systems approach to migration elucidating its ability to explain the intricate causation inherent in migration processes Additionally it acknowledges the constraints and challenges faced when adopting this perspective The research sets out to answer two fundamental questions 1 Does migration exhibit the dynamics and properties of a complex system and 2 What are the distinct advantages of employing a complex systems approach for studying migration The author argues that a complex systems approach provides an integrated framework that comprehensively captures the multilevel structure of migration processes By doing so it enables the identification of causation across various scales and elucidates the emergence of complex properties in migration phenomena Structured into three comprehensive chapters this book begins with an introduction to the fundamentals of the complex systems approach to migration The second chapter critically examines the concept of causality within migration science and offers a comprehensive framework for causal inference The third chapter expands on the notion of multilevel causation and emergence within complex systems of migration By examining these fundamental issues this book shows how philosophy can constructively engage with complex systems modeling in order to meet practical scientific objectives and address contemporary challenges

Prophecy and Politics in the Early Carolingian World Andrew Sorber, 2024-04-16 Prophetic and apocalyptic rhetoric play critical roles in the development and articulation of political authority in the reigns of Charlemagne d 814 and Louis the Pious d 840 The rhetorical authority derived from claims of receiving revelation interpreting divine communication speaking for God and foreseeing calamities became a competitive medium through which individuals legitimized political behaviour debated their long and short term aspirations and struggled for political supremacy Ranging from claims of revelations dreams and visions to the adoption of rhetorical voices based on biblical prophets to the interpretation of signs and portents prophetic rhetoric enjoyed extensive experimentation and varied application throughout early medieval political discourse Prophecy and Politics in the Early Carolingian World argues that claims of divine revelation resistant to any attempts to monopolize them provided a powerful means of speaking with authority for all participants in Frankish political discourse This authority proved instrumental in the articulation and dismantling of effective Carolingian royal authority from 768 to 840 The volume introduces and reinterprets early Carolingian political discourse and intellectual activity as well as the centrality of apocalypticism in the Carolingian period by emphasizing prophecy or revelation and authority rather than prediction and calamity Early Carolingian political discourse was a dialogue that took place across royal proclamations legal statements historical texts visions scriptural commentaries and manifestations of the natural world and in this dialogue the ability to interpret God's will was as powerful as it was problematic

Presidential Communication Robert E. Denton Jr., Dan F. Hahn, 1986-08-13 Presidential Communication is the first book to combine a study of the American Presidency with communication theory. The book brings readers a new way of looking at the Chief Executive Office. First Presidential Communication builds a case for the rhetorical presidency: what it means and how it works and why an approach based on an analysis of presidential rhetoric and persuasion works better than others to uncover the essential nature of the office. The authors also examine the presidency from the major areas of concentration traditionally found in communication scholarship

Beyond Disagreement Aruna Sathanapally, 2012-10-25 Providing the first empirical analysis of declarations of incompatibility under the UK Human Rights Act and their aftermath in the legislative process, this book details these open remedies and draws comparisons with similar human rights mechanisms in the US, Canada, South Africa, and Australia

Projecting Paranoia Ray Pratt, 2001 A wide-ranging and idiosyncratic look at sixty years of politics and film that uncovers how American movies have mirrored and even challenged anxieties and paranoid perceptions embedded in American society since the start of the Cold War. The first book to take a sweeping look at 60 years of film and analyze them thematically

Summary Record, 1992      Narrative Inquiry, 2005

The Mirror of Public Opinion? Anne-Dörte Balks, 2016 Central to the study is the relevance of media actors as actors in civil society for the European integration process. This relevance is empirically assessed making use of a selection of print media from two founding members of the European Union: Germany and the Netherlands, analysing the path dependency of journalistic coverage and reporting along two questions: Is the focus on and evaluation of the European Project and its different aspects in Germany and the Netherlands alike or does it differ? How do traditional political and societal perspectives affect opinion formation in the media? The country comparison draws on the neo-institutional school of thought. The large corpus of newspaper content, articles and commentary has been assessed quantitatively as well as qualitatively, searching for major issues, motives and discourses in temporal perspective. The last major treaties of the European integration process, the so-called Constitutional Treaty and Reform Treaty, serve as temporal starting and endpoint for analysis.

Anne Dörte Balks M.A. M.Sc. studied European Studies, focus political science, at the University of Osnabrück, Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster and the University of Twente, Enschede, NL. Her research interest is on the discourse on European integration in European societies and media. She currently works as Personal Assistant to the Vice President International at Freie Universität Berlin.
