Conversations about gender equity in the workplace accelerated in the 2010s with debates inside Hollywood specifically pointing to broader systemic problems of employment disparities and exploitative labor practices. Compounded by the devastating MeToo revelations, these problems led to a wide-scale call for change. The Value Gap traces female-driven filmmaking across development, financing, production, film festivals, marketing, and distribution, examining the realities facing women working in the industry during this transformative moment. Drawing from five years of extensive interviews with female producers, writers, and directors at different stages of their careers, Courtney Brannon Donoghue examines how Hollywood business cultures value female-driven projects as risky or not bankable. Industry claims that movies targeting female audiences don't make money or women can't direct big-budget blockbusters have long circulated to rationalize systemic gender inequities and have served to normalize studios prioritizing the white male-driven status quo. Through a critical media industry studies lens, The Value Gap challenges this pervasive logic with firsthand accounts of women actively navigating the male-dominated and conglomerate-owned industrial landscape. The Humanist Project Peter Carravetta, 2024-05-20 Humanistic studies has been subjected to critiques from the inside of the university disciplines and shrinking support structures on the outside; moreover, recent technological developments have trapped humans in the maws of the information machine where will, agency, and dialogue are constantly stunted and mediated, disclosing a nihilistic, dilated present. Against this panorama, Peter Carravetta argues that there is a need to recover the human in humanistic reflection, here described as a free social creative yet elusive being caught between idealizations, utopias, concepts of society, autonomy of powers, the realities of survival, basic economics, and geographies, and the dynamics of power, the languages, and the praxis of actually running the society. The Humanist Project Will Judgment and Society from Dante to Vico presents Dante as the first true humanist with his stressing the preeminence of free will and individual responsibility in the life of the polis. Boccaccio's later encyclopedic works as a philosophy of existence and history. Pico della Mirandola's autopoiesis of the thinking and acting human in light of recent theories of interpretation, the self, and society. Machiavelli and the challenge of chance in determining sociohistorical patterns. Campanella as the last true utopic writer and first to conceive of a realist world-scale political vision, and Vico as the thinker who identifies and describes the dialectic between historical recurrences and the free will of the individual. BELGIUM NARAYAN CHANGDER, 2023-01-07 Note: Anyone can request the PDF version of this practice set workbook by emailing me at cbsenet4u@gmail.com.
