Wordpress Admin User Guide Manual Danish:

The Indian Space Programme Gurbir Singh, 2017-10-17 Fifty years in the making India's Space Programme is fulfilling the vision of its founders and delivering services from space that touch the lives of 1.3 billion people every day. In addition to operating a collection of satellites for weather, Earth observation, navigation and communication, today India has a spacecraft orbiting Mars and a space telescope in Earth orbit. This book provides the big picture of India's long association with science from historical figures like Aryabhata and Bhaskara to Homi Bhabha and Vikram Sarabhai, the key architects of its space program. It covers the scientific contribution of Indian scientists during the European Enlightenment and industrial revolution. It traces the technological development of Tipu Sultan's use of rockets for war in the 1780s, the all but forgotten contribution of Stephen H. Smith's use of rockets as a means of transport in 1935 in northern India and the emergence of Sriharikota, India's spaceport, the heart of India's modern Space Programme. A detailed account of how a fishing village in Kerala was transformed into a space centre and used to launch India's first rocket into space on 21 November 1963. A detailed summary of India's space infrastructure, launch vehicles, deep space network, Telemetry, Tracking and Command, and space assets in orbit. Description of how the ordinary people of India benefit from the services delivered by the space programme. Why India chose to go to the Moon and Mars and how it got there. The prospects for India's ambitions in space for human spaceflight, national security and scientific exploration. An analysis of how India's Space Programme may play out on the global stage. Will it compete or collaborate with China, USA and Russia in space. This detailed work in 645 pages, 29 tables and 9 appendices is richly illustrated with 140 illustrations, some images published for the first time and supported by over 1,000 references. It is written for the non-specialist, offering a big picture view.

The Historical Web and Digital Humanities Niels

Brügger, Ditte Laursen, 2019-03-07 The Historical Web and Digital Humanities fosters discussions between the Digital Humanities and web archive studies by focussing on one of the largest entities of the web, namely national and transnational web domains such as the British, French or European web. With a view to investigating whether and how web studies and web historiography can inform and contribute to the Digital Humanities, this volume contains a number of case studies and methodological and theoretical discussions that both illustrate the potential of studying the web in this case, national web domains and provide an insight into the challenges associated with doing so. Commentary on and possible solutions to these challenges are debated within the chapters and each one contributes in its own way to a web history in the making that acknowledges the specificities of the archived web. The Historical Web and Digital Humanities will be essential reading for those with an interest in how the past of the web can be studied as well as how Big Data approaches can be applied to the archived web. As a result, this volume will appeal to academics and students working and studying in the fields of Digital Humanities, internet and media studies, history, cultural studies and communication.
