Name _____ Date _____

1. A solid block X of mass M_X may be placed at different locations along a curved ramp. At the bottom of the ramp is a solid block Y of mass M_Y that is at rest on a horizontal surface. Figure 1 shows both blocks before block X is released. A group of students must graphically determine the relationship between the release height of block X and the speed at which the two-block system travels after the blocks collide and stick together. Figure 2 shows both blocks after the collision. Frictional forces between block X and the ramp and between both blocks and the horizontal surface are considered to be negligible. \rightarrow Thus, system's total momentum is conserved.

- I. State the basic physics principles, laws, or equations that students could use to graphically determine the relationship between the release height of block X and the speed at which the two-block system travels after the blocks collide and stick together. Conservation of energy will be used to determine speed of block x at bottom. Conservation of momentum will be used to determine system speed after collision.
- II. Derive an equation that relates the initial release height H_X of block X and the speed v_s of the two-block system after the collision in terms of M_X , M_Y , and fundamental constants, as appropriate.

$$ME_{top} = ME_{bot}$$

$$PE_{top} = KE_{bot}$$

$$m_X g H_X = \frac{1}{2} m_X v_{bot}^2$$

$$v_{bot} = \sqrt{2gH_X}$$

$$M_X v_{bot} = (M_X + M_Y) v_s$$

$$M_X (\sqrt{2gH_X}) = (M_X + M_Y) v_s$$

- b. Design an experimental procedure the students could use to graphically determine the relationship between the release height of block X and the speed at which the two-block system travels after the blocks collide and stick together. In the table below, list the quantities and associated systems that would be measured in your experiment and the equipment used to measure them. Describe the overall procedure to be used, referring to the table. Provide enough detail so that another student could replicate the experiment, including any steps necessary to reduce experimental uncertainty.

Quantity to be Measured	Symbol for Quantity	Equipment for Measurement
mass of block X	M_X	balance
mass of block Y	M_Y	balance
height of block X	H_X	meterstick
speed of both blocks	v_s	motion detector

Place block Y a short distance from bottom of ramp & place motion detector so that once block X hits block Y, detector will record the speed of both. Use meterstick to place block X at a particular height above horizontal. Turn on motion detector & release block X. Record height & system speed from detector. Repeat for multiple heights and multiple trials at each height.
