Structures of Grace John Gallagher, Jeanne Buckeye, 2014-12-01 This is a book about the business practices of a group of companies who are dedicated to changing the world These companies participate in the Economy of Communion EOC project which is an initiative of the international and ecumenical Focolare movement For these companies changing the world means humanizing the economy by consistently privileging relationships over profit maximizing and by putting profits in common and using them to address acute social needs and concerns It also means humanizing companies and organizations through business practices that respect the inherent dignity of each person and that are aimed at breaking down barriers between people in business The book is the product of a rigorous robust and multi year research project involving more than a dozen U S and Canadian based EOC companies and should be considered a case study of the EOC rather than a study of any of the individual companies What indeed do we mean by structures of grace First and foremost the title reflects our conviction that EOC companies are indeed different And that difference is centered on a conviction of the business as a set of relationships or more accurately a community and the conviction that the purpose of economic activity the production and distribution of goods and services is to bring people together to create community For us this is the defining characteristic of the EOC VISTA Fact Book Volunteers in Service to America,1967 Leading Schools in Challenging Times Bruce Anthony Jones,Anthony Rolle,2016-03-01 Over the past 30 years our public school system has received an unprecedented amount of attention as this concerns methods of school reform and policy strategies for bringing about this reform During the 1980s the emphasis of school reform was on transparency through school community partnerships Business and philanthropy for example became involved with issues of schooling that was unheard of prior to this period The 1980s also gave rise to issues of school finance and student performance that went beyond traditional views that tended to focus on finance adequacy to views that focused more on school finance arrangements that would lead to actual equitable outcomes in student performance The 1990s witnessed the emergence of the comprehensive school reform movement whereby curriculum outsourcing occurred at rates that had never occurred before With this movement the role of teachers and school leaders in the creation of school curriculum diminished as school districts increasingly purchased vendor related curriculum packages which included teacher and leader training modules and methods of curriculum assessment On the heels of the increasing tendency of school districts to outsource school curriculum to curriculum vendors came a rise in demands for school accountability and school outcomes This was particularly evident with the passage of No Child Left Behind Act NCLB 2001 NCLB was also developed within a political context that called for demands in the academic improvement of schools and school districts that housed historically disenfranchised students These demands were particularly important as the nation experienced and continues to experience dramatic increases in student racial and ethnic diversity This volume entitled Leading Schools in Challenging Times Eye to the Future discusses varying types of school leadership in the context of key topics that have been at the center of on going school reform in the United States These topics include challenges opportunities and issues associated with our administrator and teacher leadership pipeline preparation and development leadership and school finance reform leadership and changing student and population demographics leadership and the role of community issues of leadership policy public accountability and school performance outcomes The authors also explicate these issues with a view to the future and the status of leadership in our public school system Commerce Business Daily ,1998-07 Red River Rising Ashley Shelby,2003 The gripping true life story of one of the most destructive floods in U S history and its effect on one city and its citizens Department of Defense Appropriations for ... United States.
