Thomas, 2004-03-06 Excerpt tribe He had faculties He had also various idiosyncrasies He was undeniably the best hunter and trapper and trainer of dogs to sledge as well as the most expert upon snowshoes of all the Indians living upon the point and he was furthermore one of the dirtiest of them and the biggest drunkard whenever opportunity afforded Fortunately for him and for his squaw Bigbeam as she had been facetiously named by an agent of the company the opportunities for getting drunk were rare for the company is conservative in the distribution of that which makes bad hunters Given an abundance of firewater and tobacco Red Dog was the happiest Indian between the northern boundary of the United States and Lake Gary deprived of them both he hunted vigorously thinking all the while of the coming hour when after a long journey and much travail he should be in what was his idea of heaven again To day though the rifle bought from the company stood idle beside the ridge pole the sledge dogs snarled and fought upon the snow outside and Bigbeam squat and broad as became her name looked askance at her lord as she prepared the moose meat uncertain of his temper for his face was cloudy Red Dog was in fact perplexed and was planning deeply Good reason was there for Red Dog s thought Events of the immediate future were of moment to him and all his fellows among whom though no chief was formally acknowledged he was recognized as leader for had he not at one time been with the company as a hired hunter Had he not once gone with a fur carrying party even to Hudson s Bay and thence to the far south and even to Quebec And did he not know the ways of the company and could not he talk a French patois which enabled him to be understood at the stations Now as fitting representative of himself and of his clan a great responsibility had come upon him and he was lost in as anxious thought as could come to a biped of his quality Like a more or less Managerial and Entrepreneurial Decision Making Matteo Cristofaro, Maria José Sousa, José Carlos Sánchez-García, 2021-06-10 Since the conceptualization of bounded rationality management scholars started investigating how people managers and entrepreneurs really make decisions within and for organizations The aim of this eBook is to deeply investigate trends that have flourished within this pivotal research area in conceptual and or empirical terms trying to provide new insights on how managers and entrepreneurs make decisions within and for organizations In this vein readers that approach this eBook will be taken by hand and accompanied to the discovery of how the mind of decision makers is at the basis of organizational developments or failures In this regard published contributions in this eBook underline how executives and entrepreneurs must be ecologically rational thus be aware of the negative and positive effects that biases can have depending on the context and use them at their advantage Managerial and entrepreneurial decision making are phenomena that cannot be detached from the environment in which executives and entrepreneurs are embedded claiming to establish new approaches to research that looks at decision making as an individual group organization environment dialectical and multi level phenomenon

Research and Practice in Multiple Criteria Decision Making Yacov Y. Haimes, Ralph E. Steuer, 2012-12-06 During the past two decades the consideration of multiple objectives in modeling and decision making has grown by leaps and bounds. The nineties in particular have seen the emphasis shift from the dominance of single objective modeling and optimization toward an emphasis on multiple objectives. The proceedings of this Conference epitomize these evolutionary changes and contribute to the important role that the field of multiple criteria decision making (MCDM) now plays in planning, design, operational management and policy decisions. Of special interest are the contributions of MCDM to manufacturing engineering. For example, it has recently been recognized that optimal single objective solutions have often been pursued at the expense of the much broader applicability of designs and solutions that satisfy multiple objectives. In particular, the theme MCDM and Its Worldwide Role in Risk Based Decision Making of the XIVth International Conference on Multiple Criteria Decision Making, Charlottesville, Virginia, USA, June 8-12, 1998, represents the growing importance of risk cost benefit analysis in decision making and in engineering design and manufacturing. In such systems, minimizing the occurrence of rare and extreme events emerges as an essential objective that risk complements the minimization of the traditional expected value of risk along with the objectives attached to cost and performance. These proceedings include forty-five papers that were presented at the Conference. A variety of techniques have been proposed for solving multiple criteria decision making problems. The emphasis and style of the different techniques largely reflect the fields of expertise of their developers.

The Practice of Nursing Research Susan K. Grove, Nancy Burns (Ph. D.), Jennifer Gray, 2012-01-01 Nancy Burns is first named author on previous edition.

Decision-Making in Private Equity Firms Mark Broere, 2013-10-04 The decisions of private equity firms affect the development of industries and national economies yet little is known about how these decisions are made. Mark Broere uses proprietary survey data from 136 private equity firms, venture capital and buyout located in the US, Canada and Europe to explore determinants and rules of their decision making. The results exhibit new facts about their objectives, success measures, decision criteria, exit decision power and rules. A discussion in light of existing financial theory highlights e.g. the role of reputation and potential pitfalls in the decision making of practitioners. The author suggests that private equity firms might improve their performance by a more careful choice of decision rules and criteria and by a more consistent application of these across varying decision types.

Advances in Modern Tourism Research Álvaro Matias, Peter Nijkamp, Paulo Neto, 2007-06-27 Modern Advances in Tourism Research provides a thorough assessment of state of the art academic research in this field of economic science. The authors start by scoping the scene of tourism research. They progress to a comprehensive analysis of themes of particular interest for researchers and academics interested in the workings of the tourism markets such as new analysis frameworks in tourism economics and new operational tools in tourism research.

Understanding College and University Organization James L. Bess, Jay R. Dee, 2023-07-03 Now available in paperback this two volume work is intended to help readers develop powerful new ways of thinking about organizational principles and apply them to policy making and management in colleges and universities The book is written with two audiences in mind administrative and faculty leaders in institutions of higher learning and students both doctoral and Master s degree studying to become upper level administrators leaders and policy makers in higher education It systematically presents a range of theories that can be applied to many of the difficult management situations that college and university leaders encounter It provides them with the theoretical background to knowledgeably evaluate the many new ideas that emerge in the current literature and in workshops and conferences The purpose is to help leaders develop their own effective management style and approaches and feel confident that their actions are informed by appropriate theory and knowledge of the latest research in the field Without theory organizational leaders are forced to treat each problem that they encounter as unique as if it were a first time occurrence While leaders may have some experience with a particular issue their solutions are usually not informed by the accumulated wisdom of others who have already encountered and resolved similar situations The authors approach the theory of the organization and administration of colleges and universities from three quite different perspectives or paradigms each relying on different assumptions about the reality of organizational life in colleges and universities The positivist paradigm primarily an omnibus systems theory integrates the chapters into a comprehensive yet easily accessible whole Social constructionism the second paradigm is introduced in each chapter to illuminate the difficulty of seeking and finding meaningful consensus on problems and policies while also addressing important ethical issues that tend to be overlooked in leadership thought and action The third paradigm postmodernism draws attention to difficulties of logic and communication under the constraints of strictly linear thinking that authorities at all levels attempt to impose on organizations This multiple paradigm approach enables readers to become more cognizant of their own assumptions how they may differ from those of others in their organization and how those differences may both create difficulties in resolving problems and expand the range of alternatives considered in organizational decision making The book offers readers the tools to balance the real world needs to succeed in today s challenging and competitive environment with the social and ethical aspirations of all its stakeholders and society at large The authors aim is to elucidate how administration can be made more efficient and effective through rational decision making while also respecting humanistic values This approach highlights a range of phenomena that require attention if the institution is ultimately to be considered successful Also available Volume 1 The State of the SystemTwo volume set
