

Quantum Confidence with TMM © - Users Manual

General Information...

IMPORTANT: Please read this manual carefully and in its entirety before your first use...

These recordings are not "music" in the traditional sense. They are a series of finely honed and sculpted frequencies that have been carefully arranged in such a way as to have a profound and beneficial effect when used regularly with or without headphones. Headphones are suggested, however, for maximum benefit.

These recordings are best listened to at the highest COMFORTABLE volume, with your eyes closed and in a sitting or reclined position.

It may take multiple sessions for your brain to "learn" how to react to this form of stimulation. Following the usage protocols/patterns for each recording is paramount to your chances for success.

As with physical exercise, it is important to "exercise" your brain every day. The more you use these recordings, the more positive changes you will be likely to manifest. If you were to exercise once in a while, you would not see much of a difference in your conditioning or health (if any). Do it regularly and you won't be able to deny the changes you see. It is the same with your brain. Do it regularly and be amazed!

Due to the inconstancies in Computer (PC and Mac) sound cards and speakers, it is suggested that you "burn" a separate CD of each recording to ensure that you do not miss out on any of the experience. Never record more than 1 track per CD.

What is BWE (Brainwave Entrainment)?

When the brain is stimulated with pulsed sounds (neuro – electrical activity via the nerves originating from the ears), the overall activity of the brain will respond to and align with these pulses (also called the FFR or "frequency following response"). By selecting the desired rate, the brain via the FFR, can be naturally induced towards the selected brainwave state and its inherent benefits.

It is also because of the FFR or "entrainment" that these pulsed sounds often produce benefits similarly found with deep meditation.

It is entirely possible that each use will provide a unique experience. Even if you feel nothing happened, pay close attention to yourself and see if you, or your friends, co-workers or family notice anything different.
