Working Classics Poems On Industrial Life Peter Oresick:

Working Classics Peter Oresick, Nicholas Coles, 1990 A diverse collection of 169 poems by 74 poets writing about blue collar America at work Arrangement is by author with indexing that gives access by subjects such as accidents after work bosses various industries retirement sabotage pride in work The theme of work is a central and evocative one and this collection brings its importance home Revolutionary Memory Cary Nelson, 2013-10-11 Revolutionary Memory is the most important book yet to be published about the vital tradition of leftwing American Poetry As Cary Nelson shows it is not only our image of the past but also our sense of the present and future that changes when we recover these revolutionary memories Making a forceful case for political poetry as poetry Nelson brings to bear his extraordinary knowledge of American poets radical movements and social struggles in order to bring out an undervalued strength in a literature often left at the canon's edge Focused in part of the red decade of the 1930s Revolutionary Memory revitalizes biographical criticism for writers on the margin and shows us for the first time how progressive poets fused their work into a powerful chorus of political voices Richly detailed and beautifully illustrated with period engravings and woodcuts Revolutionary Memory brings that chorus dramatically to life and set a cultural agenda for future work Arts of a Cold Sun G. E. Murray, 2010-10-01 In these poems G. E. Murray blends the colors of the soul with those of the world it brushes up against exploring the ways in which art both as possession and possessor informs perception Viewing his subjects sometimes from airplane altitude sometimes from the intimacy of a shared restaurant table Murray crafts true stories about color narratives of dislocation and belonging that invite readers to question their own relationship to art Included in this volume is a long sequential poem titled The Seconds which Murray composed across the second days of thirteen months The rhythms of this diary as poem seize the tensions of shifting times and locales capturing the essences of moments that are at once chosen and arbitrary Codes toward an Incidental City the sequence that closes the book is a confederacy of forty poems that delve into the concrete familiarities and mythologies of urban landscapes illuminating the ecstasies of city life Walt Whitman Bathing David Wagoner, 1996 When David Wagoner's last collection Through the Forest New and Selected Poems was published Harold Bloom noted that Wagoner's study of American nostalgias is as eloquent and moving as that of James Wright and like Wright's poetry carries on some of the deepest currents in American verse The same could be said of Walt Whitman Bathing in which Wagoner's poems range from the lyric to the satiric the elegiac to the transcendental the autobiographical to the visionary Other comments on Wagoner's earlier works Wagoner has the visual acuity of his loved hawks and a lifelong absorption with living and growing things A lovely wit and a lively intelligence inform these poems Maxine Kumin When Wagoner looks at something he brings it to vivid and immediate life through an extraordinary power with a simple name love He is as formally various as Thomas Hardy as playful as Dickinson as wry as Frost Dave Smith A sharp eyed even gutsy nature poet the deftest and tenderest of love poets Wagoner is a verbal magician capable of surprising sometimes crazy tours de force X J Kennedy To Us, All Flowers are Roses Lorna Goodison, 1995 A collection of poems focusing on the culture and people of the Caribbean Oblivion Stephen Berg, 1995 Points of Departure Miller Williams, 1995 One of our very finest poets in full stride Harvard Review on Adjusting to the Light A 1995 recipient of the Academy Award in Literature of the American Academy of Arts and Letters Miller Williams is one of America's best known and loved poets He also has won the prestigious Poets Prize the Amy Lowell Award in Poetry presented by Harvard University the Prix de Rome for Literature from the American Academy of Arts and Letters and many others Williams's newest collection is built of the idiom of ordinary speech Mostly narrative and dramatic these indelible poems are populated by individuals who go about their lives much as all of us do in fear of pain and loneliness in hope of something like love The breath of Williams's talent gives them life his honesty and precision make them unforgettable Theater of Animals Samn Stockwell, 1995 For Democracy, Workers, and God Clark D. Halker, Bucky Halker, 1991 A History of American Working-Class Literature Nicholas Coles, Paul Lauter, 2017-03-02 A History of American Working Class Literature sheds light not only on the lived experience of class but the enormously varied creativity of working class people throughout the history of what is now the United States By charting a chronology of working class experience as the conditions of work have changed over time this volume shows how the practice of organizing economic competition place and time shape opportunity and desire The subjects range from transportation narratives and slave songs to the literature of deindustrialization and globalization Among the literary forms discussed are memoir journalism film drama poetry speeches fiction and song Essays focus on plantation prison factory and farm as well as on labor unions workers theaters and innovative publishing ventures Chapters spotlight the intersections of class with race gender and place The variety depth and many provocations of this History are certain to enrich the study and teaching of American literature Singing The City Laurie Graham, 2010-06-15 Singing the City is an eloquent tribute to a way of life largely disappearing in America using Pittsburgh as a lens Graham is not blind to the damage industry has done both to people and to the environment but she shows us that there is also a rich human story that has gone largely untold one that reveals in all its ambiguities the place of the industrial landscape in the heart Singing the City is a celebration of a landscape that through most of its history has been unabashedly industrial Convinced that industrial landscapes are too little understood and appreciated Graham set out to investigate the city's landscape past and present and to learn the lessons she sensed were there about living a good life The result told in both her voice and the distinctive voices of the people she meets is a powerful contribution to the literature of place Graham begins by showing the city as an outgrowth of its geography and its geology the factors that led to its becoming an industrial place She describes the human investment in the area the floods of immigrants who came to work in the mills in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries their struggles within the domains of Andrew Carnegie and Henry Clay Frick She evokes the superhuman aura of making steel by taking the reader to still functioning mills and uncovers for us a richness of tradition in ethnic neighborhoods that survives to this day New Working-Class Studies John Russo, Sherry Lee Linkon, 2018-08-06 We put the working class in all its varieties at the center of our work The new working class studies is not only about the labor movement or about workers of any particular kind or workers in any particular place even in the workplace Instead we ask questions about how class works for people at work at home and in the community We explore how class both unites and divides working class people which highlights the importance of understanding how class shapes and is shaped by race gender ethnicity and place We reflect on the common interests as well as the divisions between the most commonly imagined version of the working class industrial blue collar workers and workers in the new economy whose work and personal lives seem at first glance to place them solidly in the middle class from the Introduction In John Russo and Sherry Lee Linkon's book contributors trace the origins of the new working class studies explore how it is being developed both within and across fields and identify key themes and issues Historians economists geographers sociologists and scholars of literature and cultural studies introduce many and varied aspects of this emerging field Throughout they consider how the study of working class life transforms traditional disciplines and stress the importance of popular and artistic representations of working class life You Work Tomorrow John Marsh, 2007 The first ever anthology of American labor poetry of the Great Depression

Critical Approaches to American Working-Class Literature Michelle Tokarczyk, 2012-03-29 Critical Approaches to American Working Class Literature is the first anthology to focus on literary criticism of working class American literature The literature examined is from the 1850s to the present and includes work in several genres Several prominent scholars have contributed and emerging scholars are represented as well What We Hold in Common Janet Zandy, 2001 Restored to print in an expanded edition the pivotal text in working class studies Visionary Women Writers of Chicago's Black Arts Movement Carmen L. Phelps, 2013 A disproportionate number of male writers including such figures as Amiri Baraka Larry Neal Maulana Karenga and Haki Madhubuti continue to be credited for constructing the iconic and ideological foundations for what would be perpetuated as the Black Art Movement Though there has arisen an increasing amount of scholarship that recognizes leading women artists activists and leaders of this period these new perspectives have yet to recognize adequately the ways women aspired to far more than a mere dismantling of male oriented ideals In Visionary Women Writers of Chicago's Black Arts Movement Carmen L Phelps examines the work of several women artists working in Chicago a key focal point for the energy and production of the movement Angela Jackson Johari Amiri and Carolyn Rodgers reflect in their writing specific cultural local and regional insights and demonstrate the capaciousness of Black Art rather than its constraints Expanding from these three writers Phelps analyzes the breadth of women's writing in BAM In doing so Phelps argues that these and other women attained advantageous and unique positions to represent the potential of the BAM aesthetic even if their experiences and artistic perspectives were informed by both social conventions and constraints In this book Phelps's examination brings forward a powerful and crucial contribution to the aesthetics and history of a movement that still inspires For a Living Nicholas Coles, Peter Oresick, 1995 In this companion volume to their anthology Working Classics Nicholas Coles and Peter Oresick present poems written in the 1980s and 1990s that address the nature and culture of nonindustrial work white collar domestic clerical technical managerial or professional They cross lines of status class and gender and range from mopping floors to television news reporting Wall Street brokerage and raising children Terms of Work for Composition Bruce Horner, 2000-03-31 A cultural materialist critique of six key terms used in composition studies to define its work Creole Echoes M. Lynn Weiss, 2004 Creole poets have always eluded easy definition infusing European poetic forms with Louisiana themes and Native American and African influences to produce an impressive variety of highly accomplished verses The first major collection of its kind Creole Echoes contains over a hundred of these poems by more than thirty different poets presented by M Lynn Weiss in their original French alongside new English translations by Norman R Shapiro The poems gathered here were all composed in French by Louisiana residents of European African and Caribbean origin Their themes range from love and history to nightmare and childhood recollection In these pages somber elegies meet whimsical surprises and rhyming animal fables meet political panegyrics Spring Oni Buchanan, 2010-10-01 2009 Massachusetts Book Awards Winner Representing nothing less than a tour de force of formal invention and emotional intensity Oni Buchanan's Spring encompasses radically contrasting work Ecstatic visually intricate rhapsodies are juxtaposed with tight sonnet like poems and wispy columns of verse brush up against large scale epics and kinetic text This collection's point of departure is the paradox of existence as an individual in a political and violent world All of the formal innovations in this book have in common an urgent need for texture and polyphony and the poems attempt to discover how to fulfill the individual human responsibility of surviving as a resiliently loving and hopeful living creature An accompanying multimedia compact disc offers a full Flash animated version of the printed kinetic work The Mandrake Vehicles
