Visions For Black Men:

Visions for Black Men Na'im Akbar, 1993 Visions for Black Men Naim Akbar, 1991-08-01 Cross-cultural Visions in African American Modernism Yoshinobu Hakutani, 2006 Yoshinobu Hakutani traces the development of African American modernism which initially gathered momentum with Richard Wright's literary manifesto Blueprint for Negro Writing in 1937. Hakutani dissects and discusses the cross-cultural influences on the then burgeoning discipline in three stages: American dialogues, European and African cultural visions, and Asian and African American cross-cultural visions. In writing Black Boy, the centerpiece of the Chicago Renaissance, Wright was inspired by Theodore Dreiser. Because the European and African cultural visions that Wright, Ralph Ellison, Alice Walker, and Toni Morrison acquired were buttressed by the universal humanism that is common to all cultures, this ideology is shown to transcend the problems of society. Fascinated by Eastern thought and art, Wright, Walker, Sonia Sanchez, and James Emanuel wrote highly accomplished poetry and prose. Like Ezra Pound, Wright was drawn to classic haiku as reflected in the 4,000 haiku he wrote at the end of his life. As W.B. Yeats's symbolism was influenced by his cross-cultural visions of Noh theatre and Irish folklore, so is James Emanuel's jazz haiku energized by his cross-cultural rhythms of Japanese poetry and African American music. The book demonstrates some of the most visible cultural exchanges in modern and postmodern African American literature. Such a study can be extended to other contemporary African American writers whose works also thrive on their cross-cultural visions, such as Amiri Baraka, Ishmael Reed, Charles Johnson, and haiku poet Lenard Moore.

Black Men on Race, Gender, and Sexuality Devon Carbado, 1999-07 A groundbreaking anthology of essays providing commentary on gender and sexuality inclusion in the antiracist movement. In late 1995, the Million Man March drew hundreds of thousands of black men to Washington DC and seemed even to skeptics a powerful sign, not only of black male solidarity but also of black racial solidarity. Yet while generating a sense of community and common purpose, the Million Man March with its deliberate exclusion of women and implicit rejection of black gay men also highlighted one of the central faultlines in African American politics: the role of gender and sexuality in the antiracist agenda. In this groundbreaking anthology, a companion to the highly successful Critical Race Feminism, Devon Carbado changes the terms of the debate over racism, gender, and sexuality in black America. The essays cover such topics as the legal construction of black male identity, domestic abuse in the black community, the enduring power of black machismo, the politics of black male/white female relationships, racial essentialism, the role of black men in black women's quest for racial equality, and the heterosexist nature of black political engagement. Featuring work by Cornel West, Huey Newton, Henry Louis Gates Jr., A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., Houston Baker, Marlon T. Riggs, Dwight McBride, Michael Awkward, Ishmael Reed, Derrick Bell, and many others, Devon Carbado's anthology stakes out new territory in the American racial landscape.

Critical America, a series edited by Richard Delgado and Jean Stephancic.

Black Man Emerging Joseph L. White, James H. Cones III, 2013-10-18 In the face of centuries of institutional and interpersonal racism, in light of the signals

they receive from society and given the choices they must make about what they want from life and how to go about getting it how can Black men in America realize their full potential In Black Man Emerging psychologists Joseph L White and James H Cones III fashion a moving psychological and social portrait that reflects their personal views on the struggle of Black men against oppression and for self determination Using numerous case histories and biographical sketches of Black men who have failed and those who have prevailed the authors describe strategies for responding to racism and entrenched power underscoring the healing capacity of religion family Black consciousness movements mentorships educational programs paid employment and other positive forces They also explore the concept of identity as it applies to being Black and male and the influence of Black men on American culture Black Man Emerging is a poignant and personal discussion of the issues facing and felt by Black men in this country and an important commentary on the conflicts born of human diversity

African American Women and Sexuality in the Cinema Norma Manatu, 2014-01-10 The representation of African American women is an important issue in the overall study of how women are portrayed in film and has received serious attention in recent years Traditionally women of color particularly African American women have been at the margins of studies of women s on screen depictions or excluded altogether This work focuses exclusively on the sexual objectification of African American women in film from the 1980s to the early 2000s Critics of the negative sexual imagery have long speculated that control by African American filmmakers would change how African American women are depicted This work examines sixteen films made by males both white and black to see how the imagery might change with the race of the filmmaker Four dimensions are given special attention the diversity of the women s roles and relationships with men the sexual attitudes of the African American female characters their attitudes towards men and their nonverbal and verbal sexual behaviors This work also examines the role culture has played in perpetuating the images how film influences viewers perception of African American women and their sexuality and how the imagery polarizes women by functioning as a regulator of their sexual behaviors based on cultural definitions of the feminine NEW VISIONS FOR BLACK MEN.

Hamlet,1998-09-14 In this timely volume editor Janice D Hamlet has chosen essays which illuminate various aspects of African American culture refracted through the lens of Afrocentric thought The book examines Afrocentric ideology and methodology Afrocentric approaches to the dynamics of communication the Afrocentric influence on the black aesthetic with an examination of language literature oral tradition movies and television and the future of Afrocentric visions Visions of the East Matthew Bernstein,Gaylyn Studlar,1997 Essays on orientalism in American and European cinema Progressive Black Masculinities?

Athena D. Mutua, 2006-11-06 In the struggle for pride and political agency the imperative to be a man has been central to the lives of black males Yet what it means to be a black man in terms of both racial and gender identity has been subject to continual debate in public and academic spheres alike Progressive Black Masculinities brings together leading black cultural critics including Michael Eric Dyson Mark Anthony Neal and Patricia Hill Collins to examine an alternatively demonized and mythologized black masculinity Collectively they offer a roadmap for new progressive models of black masculinity that may chart the course for the future of black men

Conversions and Visions in the Writings of African-American Women

Kimberly Rae Connor, 1994 The subsequent achievement of selfhood is then based on the interplay of individual and community identities Connor suggests that the distinctiveness of African American women's experiences and writings can transcend their immediate communities and be brought to bear on women's experiences in general making their individual stories more accessible and meaningful to the whole of humankind

The Womanist Reader Layli Phillips, 2006 Comprehensive in its coverage The Womanist Reader is the first volume to anthologize the major works of womanist scholarship Charting the course of womanist theory from its genesis as Alice Walker's African American feminism through Chikwenye Okonjo Ogunyemi's African womanism and Clenora Hudson Weems' Africana womanism to its present day expression as a global anti oppressionist perspective rooted in the praxis of everyday women of color this interdisciplinary reader traces the rich and diverse history of a quarter century of womanist thought Featuring selections from over a dozen disciplines by top womanist scholars from around the world plus several critiques of womanism an extensive bibliography of womanist sources and the first ever systematic treatment of womanist thought on its own terms Layli Phillips has assembled a unique and groundbreaking compilation

Contemporary Black Men's Fiction and Drama Keith Clark, 2001 Demonstrating the extraordinary versatility of African American men's writing since the 1970s this forceful collection illustrates how African American male novelists and playwrights have absorbed challenged and expanded the conventions of black American writing and with it black male identity From the John Henry Syndrome a definition of black masculinity based on brute strength or violence to the submersion of black gay identity under equations of gay with white and black with straight the African American male in literature and drama has traditionally been characterized in ways that confine and silence him Contemporary Black Men's Fiction and Drama identifies the forces that limit black male discourse including traditions established by iconic African American male authors such as James Baldwin Richard Wright and Ralph Ellison This thoughtful volume also shows how contemporary black male authors use their narratives to put forward new ways of being and knowing that foster a more complete sense of self and more humane and open ways of communicating with and relating to others In the work of Charles Johnson Ernest Gaines and August Wilson contributors find paths toward broader less rigid ideas of what black literature can be what the connections among individual and communal resistance can be and how black men can transcend the imprisoning models of hyper masculinity promoted by American culture Seeking greater spiritual connection with the past John Edgar Wideman returns to the folk rituals of his family while Melvin Dixon and Brent Wade reclaim African roots and traditions Ishmael Reed struggles with a contemporary cultural oppression that he sees as an insidious echo of slavery while Clarence Major's experimental writing suggests how black men might reclaim their own voices in a culture that silences them Taking in a wide range of critical theoretical cultural gender and sexual concerns Contemporary Black Men's Fiction and Drama provides provocative new readings of a broad range of contemporary writers

Visions from God I Have Seen Maria Luisa Schultz, 2006-06 Visions of a Self-Named Prophet or the Legend of Exterminator 13 Alvin J. Moore, 2009-01-05 This book has many intentions but as for an overall synopsis and what to look forward to is an in-depth analysis based on experience Experiences based on Sci Fi Dreams ESP Broadcasting as a Collective Conscious the Broadcasting of Thought Parallel Universes Alternate Realities Stolen Identity Reincarnation and Time Travel all intertwined within an Autobiography

Visions of Glory Kathleen Diffley, Benjamin Fagan, 2019-11-01 Visions of Glory brings together twenty-two images and twenty-two brisk essays each essay connecting an image to the events that unfolded during a particular year of the Civil War The book focuses on a diverse set of images that include a depiction of former slaves whipping their erstwhile overseer distributed by an African American publisher a census graph published in the New York Times and a cutout of a child's hand sent by a southern mother to her husband at the front The essays in this collection reveal how wartime women and men created both written accounts and a visual register to make sense of this pivotal period The collection proceeds chronologically providing a nuanced history by highlighting the multiple meanings an assorted group of writers and readers discerned from the same set of circumstances In so doing this volume assembles contingent and fractured visions of the Civil War but its differing perspectives also reveal a set of overlapping concerns A number of essays focus in particular on African American engagements with visual culture The collection also emphasizes the role that women played in making disseminating or interpreting wartime images While every essay explores the relationship between image and word several contributions focus on the ways in which Civil War images complicate an understanding of canonical writers such as Emerson Melville and Whitman
