Senior Manager Social Care Interview Questions:

Performance Review and Quality in Social Care Anne Connor, 1994-01-01 Performance review has become a major topic in social work. As an all embracing term it encompasses broad concepts such as quality and accountability and the specific techniques for measuring and managing performance. This volume is divided into four parts to survey the subject in different areas and to examine its implications from the perspectives of the voluntary sector, management, professional practice, the client and those implementing performance review. The importance of supervision and the need for proper consultation with carers when making policy decisions are also discussed, as well as such areas as quality assurance schemes and the proper implementation of complaints procedures. Also included is an analysis of performance review and quality in General Practice. The final Part provides a general overview of performance and quality review and examines how effective the Citizen's Charter and other quality assurance schemes are and what they mean when put into practice. From Community Care to Market Care? Robin Means, Hazel Morbey, Randall Smith, 2002-04-17 This study reflects a recognition of contributions studies of the post war welfare state make to contemporary debates about the restructuring of welfare. Active and Healthy Aging and Quality of Life: Interventions and Outlook for the Future Yulan Lin, Waqas Sami, Mila Nu Nu Htay, Sudip Bhattacharya, 2024-04-15 The continuous growth of older adult populations as a consequence of demographic changes is a huge challenge. To prevent costly and negative impacts on the population as a whole, it is crucial that societies increase their knowledge of promoting good health among older adults to promote good health and a better quality of life in their later years. Active aging is the process of optimizing opportunities for health, participation and security in order to enhance quality of life as people age. An active and healthy life has remained one of the most important aspirations for all people, both young and older adults alike. This ambition has become a genuine possibility for many due to a rising life expectancy among people of diverse attributes across the world. While celebrating longer life and with more financial security in later life than ever before, we need to challenge how these aspirations can be sustained through our own behavioural responses and through public policy, institutional reforms and innovations. The challenge is to identify, recommend and promote strategies and interventions that stimulate and sustain the activity, independence and health of people of all ages, especially older adults, and in the process promote the well being and quality of life of people and make public welfare systems more sustainable.
