Herbert Hoover As Secretary of Commerce Ellis Wayne Hawley, 1981 Rockefeller and the Internationalization of Mathematics Between the Two World Wars Reinhard Siegmund-Schultze, 2001-04-01 Philanthropic societies funded by the Rockefeller family were prominent in the social history of the twentieth century for their involvement in medicine and applied science This book provides the first detailed study of their relatively brief but nonetheless influential foray into the field of mathematics Mathematical Foundations of Computer Science 2000 Mogens Nielsen, Branislav Rovan, 2003-06-29

This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 25th International Symposium on Mathematical Foundations of Computer Science MFCS 2000 held in Bratislava Slovakia in August September 2000 The 57 revised full papers presented together with eight invited papers were carefully reviewed and selected from a total of 147 submissions The book gives an excellent overview on current research in theoretical informatics All relevant foundational issues from mathematical logics as well as from discrete mathematics are covered Anybody interested in theoretical computer science or the theory of computing will benefit from this book Technical Memorandum , 1959 NASA Technical Memorandum , 1988

Calculating a Natural World Atsushi Akera, 2007 How the complex interplay of academic commercial and military interests produced an intense period of scientific discovery and technological innovation in computing during the Cold War

Naval Research Logistics Quarterly , 1954 Integer Programming and Related Areas C. Kastning, 2013-11-11 Integer

Programming is one of the most fascinating and difficult areas in the field of Mathematical Optimization. Due to this fact, notable research contributions to Integer Programming have been made in very different branches of mathematics and its applications. Since these publications are scattered over many journals, proceedings, volumes, monographs, and working papers, a comprehensive bibliography of all these sources is a helpful tool even for specialists in this field. I initiated this compilation of literature in 1970 at the Institut für Konometrie und Operations Research, University of Bonn. Since then, many collaborators have contributed to and worked on it. Among them, Dipl. Math. Claus Kastning has done the bulk of the work. With great perseverance and diligence, he has gathered all the material and checked it with the original sources. The main aim was to incorporate rare and not easily accessible sources like Russian journals, preprints, or unpublished papers. Without the invaluable and dedicated engagement of Claus Kastning, the bibliography would never have reached this final version. For this reason, he must be considered its responsible editor. As with any other collection, this literature list has a subjective viewpoint and may be in some sense incomplete. We have, however, tried to be as complete as possible. The bibliography contains 4704 different publications by 6767 authors, which were classified by 11839 descriptor entries.

Research Memorandum, 1947

I Want You! Bernard D. Rostker, K. C. Yeh, 2006-09-08. As U.S. military forces appear overcommitted and some ponder a possible return to the draft, the timing is ideal for a review of how the American military transformed itself over the past five decades from a poorly disciplined force of conscripts and draft-motivated volunteers to a force of professionals revered throughout the world. Starting in the early 1960s, this account runs through the current war in Iraq with alternating chapters on the history of the all-volunteer force and the analytic background that supported decisionmaking. The author participated as an analyst and government policymaker in many of the events covered in this book. His insider status and access offer a behind-the-scenes look at decisionmaking within the Pentagon and White House. The book includes a foreword by former Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. The accompanying DVD contains more than 1,700 primary source documents, government memoranda, Presidential memos, and letters, staff papers, and reports linked directly from citations in the electronic version of the book. This unique technology presents a treasure trove of materials for specialists, researchers, and students of military history, public administration, and government affairs to draw upon.

Handbooks in Operations Research and Management Science K. Aardal, George L. Nemhauser, R. Weismantel, 2005-12-08. The chapters of this Handbook volume cover nine main topics that are representative of recent theoretical and algorithmic developments in the field. In addition to the nine papers that present the state of the art, there is an article on the early history of the field. The handbook will be a useful reference to experts in the field as well as students and others who want to learn about discrete optimization.

Drawing Futures Bob Sheil, Frédéric Migayrou, Luke Pearson, Laura Allen, 2016-11-11. Drawing Futures brings together

international designers and artists for speculations in contemporary drawing for art and architecture Despite numerous developments in technological manufacture and computational design that provide new grounds for designers the act of drawing still plays a central role as a vehicle for speculation There is a rich and long history of drawing tied to innovations in technology as well as to revolutions in our philosophical understanding of the world In reflection of a society now underpinned by computational networks and interfaces allowing hitherto unprecedented views of the world the changing status of the drawing and its representation as a political act demands a platform for reflection and innovation Drawing Futures will present a compendium of projects writings and interviews that critically reassess the act of drawing and where its future may lie Drawing Futures focuses on the discussion of how the field of drawing may expand synchronously alongside technological and computational developments The book coincides with an international conference of the same name taking place at The Bartlett School of Architecture UCL in November 2016 Bringing together practitioners from many creative fields the book discusses how drawing is changing in relation to new technologies for the production and dissemination of ideas
