Section 3 Guided Technology And Modern Life:

Technology and the Character of Contemporary Life Albert Borgmann, 2009-08-14 Blending social analysis and philosophy Albert Borgmann maintains that technology creates a controlling pattern in our lives This pattern discernible even in such an inconspicuous action as switching on a stereo has global effects it sharply divides life into labor and leisure it sustains the industrial democracies and it fosters the view that the earth itself is a technological device He argues that technology has served us as well in conquering hunger and disease but that when we turn to it for richer experiences it leads instead to a life dominated by effortless and thoughtless consumption Borgmann does not reject technology but calls for public conversation about the nature of the good life He counsels us to make room in a technological age for matters of ultimate concern things and practices that engage us in their own right
