

Self-Concept

What I am going to talk to you about through this essay is Self-concept and how it is developed and how many kinds and types of self-concepts there are. There are many kinds of self-concepts there are positive, negative and there can also be a combination. There are three kinds of self concepts; there are social experiences, social comparison and reflected appraisals. Self concept is the idea or mental image one has of one-self and ones strengths and weaknesses. This is my essay talking about self concept and how it is formed. It also has examples of self concepts and also another thing that I came across which is called personal feedback. This essay contains different kinds of self concepts and what I have learned of this subject.

What is self concept? Self concept is the way that you see yourself, there are many forms and ways of self concept you can have a positive self concept or a negative self concept, and also a combination. Many people can start developing their self concept from an early age, from your childhood for example small children can feel ignored real easily or forgotten about, these kinds of thoughts start forming a negative self concept. Persons with negative self concept are people that think little of themselves and think that they are not important. Self-concept is developed primarily through our communication with others, we are social and there for we develop an understanding of ourselves as a result of our relationships with others. We make a image of ourselves by the way that a friend or another person talks to us and communicates with us, that is called a feedback meaning that you will see yourself as other people treat you, for example a parents feedback will help their child understand who they are. As a child gets older he starts getting more feedback from different people even maybe feedbacks from his/her older brother or sister. As we get older our self-concept matures, and the influence of the feedback from others is not as strong as when we were kids. As we become surer of profound impact on the humanities and social sciences However in the public eye it is often equated with the insights of its founder the Viennese neurologist Sigmund Freud The further evolution of psychoanalysis particularly through the works of Joseph Sandler and Melanie Klein remains far less known to the public This introductory text tailored for the curious layperson aims to bridge this knowledge gap It combines elements of psychoanalytic theory with numerous practical treatment and therapy examples

Identity Gerald Izenberg, 2019-03-08 Identity The Necessity of a Modern Idea is the first comprehensive history of identity as the answer to the question who or what am I It covers the century from the end of World War I when identity in this sense first became an issue for writers and philosophers to 2010 when European political leaders declared multiculturalism a failure just as Canada which pioneered it was hailing its success Along the way the book examines Erik Erikson's concepts of psychological identity and identity crisis which made the word famous the turn to collective identity and the rise of identity politics in Europe and America varieties and theories of group identity debates over accommodating collective identities within liberal democracy the relationship between individual and group identity the postmodern critique of identity as a concept and the ways it nonetheless transformed the social sciences and altered our ideas of ethics At the same time the book is an argument for the validity and indispensability of identity properly understood Identity was not a concept before the twentieth century because it was taken for granted The slaughter of World War I undermined the honored identities of prewar Europe and as a result the idea of identity as something objective and stable was thrown into question at the same time that people began to sense that it was psychologically and socially necessary We can't be at home in our bodies act effectively in the world or interact comfortably with others without a stable sense of who we are Gerald Izenberg argues that while it is a mistake to believe that our identities are givens that we passively discover about ourselves decreed by God destiny or nature our most important identities have an objective foundation in our existential situation as bodies social beings and creatures who aspire to meaning and transcendence as well as in the legitimacy of our historical particularity
