Leighton,1966      Manganese in Soils and Plants R.D. Graham,R.J. Hannam,N.C. Uren,2012-12-06 Sixty years ago at the Waite Agricultural Research Institute G Samuel a plant pathologist and C S Piper a chemist published their conclusion that the cause of roadside take all a disease of oats was manganese deficiency This report together with the concurrent and independent studies of W M Carne in Western Australia were the first records of manganese deficiency in Australia and came only six years after McHargue s paper which is generally accepted as the final proof of the essentiality of this element There must have been a few doubts for some people at the time however as the CAB publication The Minor Elements of the Soil 1940 expressed the view that further evidence to this effect was provided by Samuel and Piper Their historic contributions are recognised by the International Symposium on Manganese in Soils and Plants as it meets on the site of their early labours to celebrate the 60th anniversary This year Australians also acknowledge 200 years of European settlement in this country and so the Symposium is both a Bicentennial and a diamond jubilee event which recognises the impact of trace elements on agricultural development in Australia In a broader sense a symposium such as this celebrates as it reviews the efforts of all who over the ages have contributed to our knowledge of manganese in soils and plants      Information Circular ,1934      Report of Investigations ,1934      Hydrogen Chloride Sparging Crystallization of the Chloride Salts of Cobalt, Manganese, and Nickel Donald E.
