Journal Questions:

- 1- What factors are known to cause increases in blood pressure?
- 2- Use your knowledge about the heart and the circulatory system to make a hypothesis about how the average blood pressure for a group of people would be affected by manipulating the age and gender of the group members.
- 3- What sorts of problems might a person develop who has chronic hypertension?
- 4- Analyze the result of your experiment. Explain any patterns you observed.
- 5- Did the result of your experiment support your hypothesis? Why or why not? Based on your experiment what conclusion can you draw about the relationship of age and gender to group blood pressure averages?
- 6- During the course of your experiment, did you obtain any blood pressure reading that were outside of the normal range for the group being tested? What did you notice on the medical charts for these individuals that might explain their high reading?
- 7- List risk factors associated with the hypertension. Based on your observation, which risk factor do you think is most closely associated with hypertension?
- 8- What effect might obesity have on blood pressure? Does obesity alone cause a person to be at risk for high blood pressure? What other factors, in combination with obesity, might increase a person's risk for high blood pressure?

World Congress on Medical Physics and Biomedical Engineering September 7 - 12, 2009 Munich, Germany
Olaf Dössel, Wolfgang C. Schlegel, 2010-01-04 Present Your Research to the World The World Congress 2009 on Medical

Physics and Biomedical Engineering the triennial scientific meeting of the IUPESM is the world's leading forum for presenting the results of current scientific work in health-related physics and technologies to an international audience. With more than 2,800 presentations, it will be the biggest conference in the fields of Medical Physics and Biomedical Engineering. In 2009, Medical physics, biomedical engineering, and bioengineering have been driving forces of innovation and progress in medicine and healthcare. Over the past two decades, as new key technologies arise with significant potential to open new options in diagnostics and therapeutics, it is a multidisciplinary task to evaluate their benefit for medicine and healthcare with respect to the quality of performance and therapeutic output. Covering key aspects such as information and communication technologies, micro and nanosystems, optics, and biotechnology, the congress will serve as an inter- and multidisciplinary platform that brings together people from basic research, R & D, industry, and medical application to discuss these issues. As a major event for science, medicine, and technology, the congress provides a comprehensive overview and in-depth, first-hand information on new developments, advanced technologies, and current and future applications. With this Final Program, we would like to give you an overview of the dimension of the congress and invite you to join us in Munich. Olaf Düssel, Congress President, Wolfgang C.

Revolutionizing K-12 Blended Learning through the i<sup>2</sup>Flex Classroom Model Avgerinou, Maria D., Gialamas, Stefanos P., 2016-06-20. Blended learning has gained significant attention recently by educational leaders, practitioners, and researchers. iFlex, a variation of blended learning, is based on the premise that certain non-interactive teaching activities, such as lecturing, can take place by students without teachers' direct involvement. Classroom time can then be used for educational activities that fully exploit teacher-student and student-student interactions, allowing for meaningful, personalized feedback and scaffolding on demand. Revolutionizing K-12 Blended Learning through the iFlex Classroom Model presents a well-rounded discussion on the iFlex model, highlighting methods for K-12 course design, delivery, and evaluation, in addition to teacher performance assessment in a blended iFlex environment. Emphasizing new methods for improving the classroom and learning experience, in addition to preparing students for higher education and careers, this publication is an essential reference source for pre-service and in-service teachers, researchers, administrators, and educational technology developers.
